OUT OF THE JUNGLES ROOSEVELT IS DUE AT SAGAMORE HILL

Colonel's Journey From the Wilds of Brazil Will Terminate This Afternoon at Oyster Bay.

HE'S NEARLY WELL MAN AFTER SERIOUS ILLNESS

Fever Has Disappeared and Wound on Leg Is Mending—Appetite Has Returned and His Spirits High.

New York, May 18.—Theodore Roosevelt's journey from the jungles of Brazil will terminate probably late tomorrow with his arrival at Sagamore Hill, his home in Oyster Bay, Long Island. He is a passenger on the Booth liner Aidan, which, according to wireless messages received tonight, is due at quarantine about 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Has Been Seriously Ill.

From his South American explorations the former president is returning nearly a well man after a siege of serious illness, due to hardships and privations he encountered, according to Captain Andrew Alexander, of the Booth liner Dunstan, which arrived here tonight from Brazil. For four days Colonel Roosevelt was a passenger on the Dunstan before being transferred to the Aidan.

At Manaos, some 850 miles from the mouth of the Amazon, the colonel was assisted on board the Dunstan for the trip down the river. He remained confined in the cabin for three days, the fourth he appeared on deck and when a few hours later, at Para, he stepped aboard the Aidan, Captain Alexander said, the fever from which he had been suffering had disappeared, the wound on his leg, due to an operation performed at Manaos for an abscess, was fast mending, he had gained in weight, his appetite had returned and he was in the best of spirits.

To Avoid Demonstration.

According to friends of the Roosevelt family, the impression that the colonel is returning a sick man probably arose over their efforts to have him reach his home without being generally hailed by the public on shore. The family is desirous of avoiding a demonstration either at the Brooklyn pier or at the depot at Oyster Bay.

It was an emaciated explorer who limped up the gang plank of the Dunstan on May 1, according to the stories told by Captain Alexander and his officers tonight. That morning Colonel Roosevelt had undergone an operation for the injury sustained in his leg while trying to save a canoe in the river rapids during his tour of exploration. He was brought on a stretcher in an automobile to the dock. He refused to be carried onto the boat, but leaned on the arms of two companions and walked.

Said He Was Hungry.

The colonel's appearance on the fourth day showed him a changed man, according to Captain Alexander. He asked to be introduced to the officers, said he was hungry; guessed he would go below for bread and jam, and generally made himself popular with the crew. Kermit Roosevelt and Leo C. Miller and George K. Cherry, naturalists, members of the expedition, accompanied the colonel to Para. Kermit left the party there to go to Spain, where he is to be married. Miller and Cherry are with the colonel on board the Aidan.

Several monkeys, a boar and some of the inanimate fruits of the Roosevelt exploration trip arrived tonight on the Dunstan.

PRESIDENT AND KING EXCHANGE CABLEGRAMS

Washington, May 18.—President Wilson and King Haakon VII. of Norway, have exchanged cablegrams, the text of which was made known in Washington today.

"In the name of the government and people of the United States, I extend to your majesty sincere congratulations on the centennial being celebrated today in Norway," cabled the president under date of May 17. "The government of the United States is keenly sensible of the cordial feeling harbored in your enlightened and progressive country toward the United States and in assuring you of the desire and aim of this government to reciprocate and foster that feeling, I avail myself of the opportunity to renew to your majesty my personal good wishes for your continued welfare and happiness.

Today the following reply was received:

"I thank your excellency very much for your very kind telegram which my people appreciate very much. We have so many Norwegians who are now good American subjects, at the same time not forgetting the old mother country."

Simultaneous with the filing of briefs and arguments on behalf of Atlanta with the United States senate, representatives of five banks assembled here yesterday to take the formal action necessary for the organization of the federal reserve bank of this district.

The five banks designated to execute the certificate of incorporation were the First National, of Montgomery, represented by A. M. Baldwin, president, and A. S. Tampa was not represented at the meeting. A. C. Clewis, president of the Exchange National, of Tampa, wired the comittee to the effect that the notice of the meeting did not reach him until Monday morning.

Ask for Instructions.

Notwithstanding the absence of Tampa, J. M. Baldwin, of Montgomery, who was appointed chairman of the organization committee, asked W. C. Elliott, secretary of the national organization committee at Washington, for telegraphic instructions, and at 1:30 o'clock the reply came to Atlanta instructing the representatives present to sign the certificate of organization and hold it for the absentees when they

U. S. Troops Remain On the Mexican Job Till Mexico Behaves

FLED FROM HUERTA AND RAN INTO MOB

Fire-Eater Urrutia Takes Refuge at Vera Cruz and Is Menaced by Mexicans. Protected by Gen. Funston.

Vera Cruz, May 18.—Hooted by a mob of Mexicans and called an assassin by one who alleged that his brother had been killed by order of the ex-minister of the interior, Dr. Aureliano Urrutia, who held that office and was once Huerta's most trusted counsellor, was arrested for the second time late today since his arrival here a few hours earlier among refugees from the capital.

Dr. Urrutia had fled from Mexico City to escape the wrath of the president, and had the appearance of an ordinary laboring man when he disclosed his identity on board the American train this side of the gap. He was detained by the American officers and taken before Brigadier General Funston, who, however, ordered him set at liberty.

He was again taken into custody because of the demonstration made against him, but was released for the second time and sent to his room, where he is guarded by a marine, whose presence was requested by the fugitive, in the belief that his life was in danger from his own people.

Called Assassin and Coward.

Antonio Rivero de la Torres, editor of El Dictamen, was the leader of the demonstration against the former minister. He appeared in the street beneath the window of the room occupied by Dr. Urrutia at the Diligencia hotel and began an invective diatribe. He shouted: "Assassin! Coward!" and charged that Urrutia was responsible for the execution of his brother, one of the deputies of the congress which Huerta dissolved. He cried out that Urrutia feared to walk the streets like an honest man, and challenged him to appear before the small crowd of his countrymen who had already gathered.

De La Torre was arrested and taken to police headquarters, and a few minutes later Dr. Urrutia also was taken to police headquarters, but as there was no evidence warranting his detention he was led back through a great crowd to the hotel. A guard was then placed outside his door. De La Torre remained incommunicado.

The ex-minister of the interior was one of the coolest men in the crowd. As he was being taken to his room a correspondent said to him:

"De La Torre accuses you of killing his brother."

"As to that," replied Dr. Urrutia smiling, "I do not think that he will be able to prove it."

Caused People to Vanish.

When Dr. Urrutia was Huerta's minister of the interior he was popularly believed to have been the author of his chief's political enemies. Dr. Urrutia said he had not been subjected to any overt act of hostility by General Huerta, but had decided that to remain within reach of the provisional president was to court death. He had been so convinced by testimony of friends.

While prime minister of the interior declared he had stolen away from the capital in the same way as any other fugitive.

Dr. Urrutia appeared totally unlike the somewhat pompous individual who for a time figured almost as much as Huerta himself. His bearing was downcast when he arrived and he displayed plainly evidences of the strain he had undergone during the past few weeks. Condition in Mexico City were described by Dr. Urrutia as bad and growing worse. He declared Huerta would not resign and that he was as stubborn today as ever.

Huerta May Use Dynamite.

In regard to reports that General Huerta was determined to blow up the national palace and other public buildings in Mexico City before yielding, Dr. Urrutia professed to have no accurate knowledge, but his opinion was that it was not improbable General Huerta would do so.

Dr. Urrutia is the man who wrote the ultimatum giving the United States twenty-four hours to recognize General Huerta and as an alternative declaring that Nelson O'Shaughnessy, American charge d'affaires, would be given his passports and war declared. This was delivered late at night at a cabinet meeting after the mission of John Lind to Mexico had begun. Opposed by Federico Gamboa, then Mexican minister of foreign affairs, it was finally not sent to Washington.

Urrutia, after a perfunctory examination by the American military authorities, was allowed to go.

QUARRELED AT FUNERAL AND FOUGHT TO DEATH

So President Wilson Tells the American Delegates on the Eve of Their Departure for the Mediation Conference to Be Held at Niagara Falls.

GEN. HUERTA MUST GO AND FAIR GOVERNMENT MUST BE ESTABLISHED

United States to Insist on Settlement That Will Satisfy Zapata and Carranza and Conserve Interests of People in Territory Controlled by Huerta—Settlement of Land Problem to Be Urged—Huerta Ready to Resign.

Washington, May 18.—President Wilson today told the American commissioners who leave tomorrow for the mediation conference at Niagara Falls, Ontario, that the United States government regards the settlement of the Mexican problem in a definite form as a pre-requisite to the withdrawal of the American forces from Vera Cruz.

The president gave the American commissioners—Justice Lamar, of the supreme court of the United States; Frederick W. Lehmann, former solicitor general and diplomatic secretary, and H. Perceval Dodge—no specific instructions. He told them to place themselves in a receptive mood and await proposals from the three South American mediators.

HUERTA MUST GO TO GET PEACE.

But at the same time he outlined to his representatives that peace in Mexico seemed to him to be conditioned upon the elimination of the Huerta administration, and the establishment in its place of a strong provisional government which would conduct an election giving fair treatment to all factions and parties and guaranteeing, moreover, a solution of the agrarian problem and other internal difficulties which have bred revolution in the southern republic during the last three years.

The president wishes the Mexican question settled on comprehensive lines that will take into account the economic principles for which Zapata in the south as well as Carranza in the north have been fighting, and at the same time will conserve the rightful interests of the people in the territory now controlled by the Huerta government.

HUERTA WILLING TO RESIGN.

During the day a dispatch came to one of the foreign diplomats here from a diplomatic source in Mexico City, stating that General Huerta was ready to resign and would permit his representatives at the mediation conference

BECKER ACCUSED BY PRESS AGENT

Formed "Pal" Swears Becker Planned Murder of Rosenthal—State Completes Its Case Against Becker.

New York, May 18.—District Attorney Whitman today completed his case against Charles Becker by placing on the witness stand two men whom he considered his star witnesses, Charles B. Plitt, Jr., the former policeman's friend, companion and press agent, and James Marshall, a negro youth, who said he saw Becker and Jack Rose talking at the "Harlem conference," which was declared by the court of appeals to have been the "heart of the conspiracy to murder Herman Rosenthal." The gambler's widow and several other persons also testified before the prosecutor declared his case ended.

Plitt swore that Becker had asked him while on board a train on the way from New York to the deathhouse at Sing Sing prison, following his conviction, to kill Jack Rose. Plitt also said Becker had made him carry messages to Jack Rose both before Rosenthal's murder and after Rose was locked up in the Tombs charged with having taken part in the crime.

Marshall went fully into the details of his alleged operations as a "stool pigeon" for Becker. He was placed on the stand as the "disinterested witness" to the "Harlem conference" which the court of appeals said was essential to convict Becker legally as the instigator of the plot that resulted in the killing of the gambler.

Becker Warned Plitt.

Becker warned Plitt before the murder to keep away from Times Square the night it occurred and also to establish an alibi for both Plitt and himself, according to Plitt. Until two months ago Plitt had been considered by Becker's counsel to be one of Becker's best friends, and, in fact, he made several affidavits calculated to help the former policeman's case. His testimony today was a complete surprise to the defense.

The defense will open its case tomorrow morning. Becker will not be the first witness. His attorneys tonight refused to say definitely whether or not he would be called later, although they assert Becker had demanded an opportunity to speak for himself. Mrs. Becker will go on the stand and try

The continuation today of the great evangelical campaign which began in all the Baptist churches of Atlanta Sunday will carry the services into the shops, factories and remotest corners of the city.

The first of the daily personal workers' conferences was held Monday at the First Baptist church. It was attended by representatives from every church in Atlanta, and by more than 200 evangelists and religious workers.

The meeting was notable for the enthusiasm and fervor which was displayed. Without "warming up" for the task which they have set themselves to accomplish, the meeting was a reversion to the old type of "revival," which was well known a few years ago.

Old-time, honored hymns were sung, and without instrumental music to accompaniment the old hymns partook of the nature of war chants for the religious battles which are to be waged in Atlanta.

Dr. Bruner in Charge.

The meeting was presided over by Dr. Weston Bruner, who is directing the campaign. Among the speakers were E. V. Lamb, of East St. Louis; Dr. M. E. Todd, of Shreveport, La., and Rev. J. H. Dew, of St. Louis. Special music was furnished by the campaign quartet, and by Mr. and Mrs. J. Fred Scholfield.

The subject of the address by Rev. E. V. Lamb was "Bible Study." In it he analyzed the books of the Bible,

GIRARDEAU SAYS FIGHT CAUSED BY CRITICISM OF CAMP MANAGEMENT

Reported That There Had Been Considerable Friction Between Superintendent and the Warden Recently—Board to Hold a Meeting Soon.

Following a fist fight with Charles H. Girardeau, warden of Fulton convict camps, in the Kistner market, 5 North Broad street, last Saturday night, S. H. Donaldson, superintendent of public works of the county, on Monday, sent his resignation to the members of the Fulton county board of commissioners, the resignation becoming effective next Saturday, May 23.

The resignation was comprised in one brief sentence, and stated no reason for Superintendent Donaldson's action.

Superintendent Donaldson stated to a Constitution reporter Monday afternoon that the fight with Warden Girardeau had no bearing whatever on his resignation. He would not at that time state his reasons for resigning, but said that later in the week he will issue a statement covering this point.

Reports of Friction.

It is said that since the recent ousting of Mr. Donaldson's brother, Tom Donaldson, from a responsible position with the county public works department and the installation by the commissioners of Mr. Girardeau, as warden, there has been friction between the superintendent and the warden.

Mr. Donaldson declined to discuss Saturday night's altercation, but, according to Mr. Girardeau, the trouble was substantially as follows:

Mr. Girardeau had heard that Mr. Donaldson had attacked him before the public works committee on Saturday morning, telling that body that the activities of Mr. Girardeau in office had caused such confusion that he (Mr. Donaldson) was being greatly hampered in his work as superintendent of public works.

Admitted the Charge.

Mr. Girardeau encountered Mr. Donaldson in the Kistner market that night and asked him whether he had made this accusation before the public works committee, and when Mr. Donaldson replied that he had done so,

LEHON CONTEMPT TRIAL UP TODAY

Judge Hill Plays Detective Burns in His Charge Before Grand Jury—Calls for Indictments Against Perjurers.

Following an indirect but unmistakable denunciation of Detective William J. Burns by Judge Ben Hill, it was announced yesterday that the contempt proceedings against Dan S. Lehon, of the Burns organization, would be held before Judge Hill this morning at 10 o'clock.

The occasion of the judge's attack upon the nationally famous sleuth was his charge to the grand jury Monday morning when that body organized in their offices in the Thrower building. Judge Hill commanded that the jury probe deeply into the various criminal charges that have been heaped upon both the defense and prosecution in the Frank case.

Referring to the charges of perjury in the Frank situation, Judge Hill ordered that the jury make a complete and thorough investigation and return bills of indictment wherever there existed prima facie evidence. He declared that perjury was equivalent to murder, and that murder only meant the death of a body, but perjury slew justice.

What Judge Said.

"Last year," he stated, "a terrible murder was committed in the community. A man was indicted, tried and convicted for the crime. A motion for a new trial was overruled, the decision of the trial judge was affirmed by the supreme court, and the supreme court decided that no error had been committed by the lower court.

"Then followed a motion for a new trial on the ground of newly-discovered evidence. Affidavits were produced by witnesses who swore that their testimony at the trial was false and that they had been induced to make the trial testimony by detectives. Investigate this, and, if it be true, return bills of indictment against the officers involved.

"Later, however, these witnesses recanted, and swore that they had been induced to repudiate their testimony by bribery, coercion or misrepresentation by agents employed by the defense.

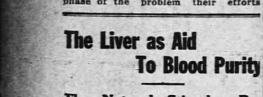
The Liver as Aid To Blood Purity

The Natural Stimulus Required is Not the Purgative Kind.



Most Pills Are Better if Thrown Away.

Important as it is to keep the bowels open, it should be remembered that such action does not necessarily mean that the liver has been stimulated. The action of S. S. S. is a natural liver tonic, but not a bowel purgative. It works in the liver cells to assist in the natural and necessary function of converting from the blood certain constituents into what are known as assimilable products. These products are absorbed into the body tissues to constantly provide new and healthy material for that which is being destroyed by the energy of tissue changes.

The presence of any blood trouble naturally suggests a sluggish liver, but there is required those medicinal properties which, upon reaching the liver, still retain their catalytic energy to keep on through the blood circulation to do battle with impurities wherever they may have settled.

Rheumatism, catarrh, anemia, most skin diseases and other results of impure blood, while implicating the liver by their morbid influences, are quickly checked by S. S. S. Its action throughout the blood circulation results in the stimulation of the tissues cells to the healthy and judicious selection of their own essential requirements.

You can get S. S. S. in any drug store, but insist upon having it.

Take no chance by permitting anyone to recommend a substitute. And if your blood condition is such that you would like to consult a specialist, address The Swift Specific Company, 626 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.

to eliminate him if it should become absolutely necessary.

Intimations that have come from the three Huerta delegates since their visit to this country showed that they had realised Huerta's elimination was regarded as essential to a settlement and knew from the outset that unless they came prepared to deal with this phase of the problem their efforts would be fruitless. The Huerta delegates, too, it is learned from persons who have talked with them, understand thoroughly that the scope of mediation now comprises the entire Mexican problem.

They are said to be ready to recommend Huerta's retirement, but only on the condition that a definite understanding is reached on the kind of government that is to follow.

According to the information from Mexico City Huerta at first authorized the delegates to discuss only the cessation of the Tampico conflict leading to the American occupation of Vera Cruz. Later the Mexican dictator, it is explained, came to recognize the necessity of a broader settlement, and then conveyed to the delegates assurances that he was prepared to step down should this course be found necessary by them.

PROBLEM OF CHIEF CONCERN.

The problem causing chief concern to diplomats in Mexico City now is that of the form of administration to be established during the interval before a constitutionally elected president could assume office. No intimations concerning the name of a possible successor to Huerta were contained in the dispatch, this subject being one in which it would be necessary to consult opinion of constitutionalist and other leaders of factions.

The information that the Mexican delegates have been given provisional authority to submit the resignation of Huerta did not occasion great surprise here, as close friends of the Huerta government's commission broadly intimated yesterday that definite elimination of the chief executive would be one of the first fruits of the Niagara Falls conference.

It was emphasized today that the men chosen to act for the Mexican federal government are not pre-eminently "Huertistas," but represent the broader views of best citizens of the federal districts and are desirous above all else of pacifying the republic.

WHO WILL SUCCEED DICTATOR HUERTA?

There was no hint in official circles today as to what form of government might succeed the Huerta regime. It was suggested, however, that the United States would not sanction the elevation to supreme authority of any Mexican who had gained his pre-eminence "by arbitrary power."

"The Huerta delegates never will agree to the selection for provisional president of any of the constitutionalist military chiefs," said a man who had a long talk with the Huerta representatives yesterday. "They are not suggesting any names, however, for provisional president, nor are they going to make any suggestion to the naedators unless asked, as they are expecting the initiative to come from the three South American diplomats. They want someone, however, for provisional president who will guarantee a fair election to all parties concerned and who has not been a military partisan. Of course, this would not exclude a number of men who have been in sympathy with the constitutionalists, but not military leaders."

This view coincided with that obtained from other persons who had informal talks with the Huerta delegates here.

WILSON IS HOPEFUL OF THE MEDIATION.

President Wilson in his final talk with the American commissioners, at which Secretary Bryan also was present, spoke hopefully of the mediation. He is sanguine that it would succeed and indicated that every power and legitimate influence at the disposal of the American government would be exerted to make it succeed. Though the conference is meeting, and yet agreed to take part in the mediation, one high administration official held out hopes today of their ultimate participation, saying a mixed tribunal ing which might be remedied in a short time, was largely responsible for their failure to be represented at Niagara Falls.

The president laid before the commissioners the Mexican problem as he saw it, emphasizing that the duty of the United States was to seek unselfishly to assist Mexico to set up a constitutional government which could be accorded recognition by the world because of its capacity not alone to maintain peace within its confines, but to observe international obligations.

The Huerta delegates have conceded privately to their friends that the international phases of the situation carry chiefly interest in the internal affairs of their country. The mediators have taken a similar position in their communications to Gen. Carranza, saying that all fields in that national and internal questions were considered settled, that they had agreed out in a general way a plan which would meet the views of both factions. This feature of it became known definitely today. It also will eradicate the perplexing agrarian question, by providing a division of lands in a way that will be satisfactory to the masses, but its details have not been revealed. Economic questions, however, will not be considered until a satisfactory agreement is reached on the political phases.

WILSON TOUCHES ON LAND QUESTION.

In his talk with the commissioners the president, too, touched briefly on the land question, speaking of it as a "humiliating disgrace" that there was dissatisfaction which had made it comparatively easy to raise a revolutionary army in Mexico.

Various suggestions and plans are to come from the mediators to the two parties represented at the negotiations. Some of these have a slight air of prediction that when plans reach a tangible form they will be submitted to Carranza as well as those who are believed to have influence with Zapata.

The president gave his representatives assurances of interest in the mediators. These letters refer to the unofficial character of the representatives and indicate clearly that the president's decision on all questions propounded so far as the United States is concerned will be made by the president at Washington.

The mediation conference is expected to reach a climax in a short time. The president does not look for protracted negotiations, believing that within many days a definite idea of the concessions which General Huerta is ready to make will be obtained. If the Huerta delegates are conciliatory and show themselves amenable to the plans suggested by the mediators and acceptable to the United States, an effort to draw the constitutionalists into the agreement undoubtedly will be made by the American government, as well as by the mediators.

REBELS RATHER SHY AT COMPROMISE TALK.

In constitutionalist quarters, the talk of a compromise arrangement by which General Huerta would retire in favor of a neutral person and cabinet who would conduct a election and guarantee certain immediate reforms has not yet made much of an appeal. Constitutionalist representatives here say their military campaign is daily growing stronger and that before the end of next month they will have settled the Mexican problem by forcibly taking possession of Mexico City.

As to mediation, they insist that the mediators never have answered General Carranza's last telegram, in which he sought to know the exact purposes of the mediation before agreeing to a new truce at the Niagara Falls. The last word from the mediators to Carranza was that in view of the intent to suspend hostilities with Huerta they must be assured that Carranza has given him to participate in the mediation. In many quarters here it is believed Carranza's inquiry eventually will be answered after the negotiations proceed to a more definite stage, and that the mediators then will submit the plans to him.

The military situation in Mexico, however, is giving the Washington government some concern in its measurings and while confident that mediation will be successful runs high, there are not a few in the cabinet and the administration generally who are apprehensive lest a sudden and unexpected turn of events may affect the negotiations. Such a contingency is the sporadic outbreak among Huerta's troops, whereby they are turning against the American forces or complications at Tampico where the commanders of the Mexican federal gunboats may seek to interfere with commerce at Tampico is not credited here as likely, but the American government is not recognizing the Huerta government in the least degree, even to the extent of a blockade. Other foreign governments have similar inhibitions in force, however, might be in an embarrassing situation.

SEEK TO PRESERVE STATUS QUO.

The preservation of the status quo at least so far as the International situation is concerned, while the mediators are trying to settle the internal and delicate task, is at present the main concern of the state department. For this reason it has acted promptly upon representations from the Japanese and European interests were endangered in the event of the constitutionalists near control of the constitutionalists near Tampico.

Forced loans upon the principal merchants and well-to-do folks in the Mexican towns and cities, which have suffered from the military invasion by one side or the other during the present rebellion, have been quite common and excited considerable protest. For the most part these exactions have been laid upon native Mexicans and not upon Spaniards, the owners of the principal business concerns in the cities affected.

Now, however with the occupation of an important seaport like Tampico the news of an attempt to collect one of these forced loans under color of "voluntary subscription" by the constitutionalist cause has brought prompt action by Secretary Bryan to the effect that it has been said that the subscription was intended to apply again only to foreigners and not Britain. But the Spaniard living in the seaport that Britain may thus be brought under the guns of a Spanish man-of-war, one of which is now cruising off the Mexican gulf coast, is situated differently from the small Spanish merchant living in some obscure interior village beyond reach of the protecting arm of his own government.

Realizing the possibility of international complications and some vigorous action on the part of the Spanish government, which it was particularly desirable to avert, at this critical state department has informed the constitutionalist leaders that they should not administer the laws "with severity," a hint which, it is believed, will be readily understood. If it is not, further representations in clearer language are expected to follow.

STILL SOME FEAR FOR THE OIL FIELDS.

The report that the federals driven out of Tampico are still in possession of the Panuco district, which reaches the navy department as a mere rumor today, was sufficient to raise all sorts of doubt as to the efficacy of the arrangements that have been made for the protection of the oil fields in that section, as this is predicated upon an agreement by which all of the constitutionalist commanders to open the fields to the foreign companies immediately.

Rear Admiral Badger's report to the navy department that he was about to begin a division of lands in a way that will be satisfactory to the masses, but its details have not been revealed. Economic questions, however, will not be considered until a satisfactory agreement is reached on the political phases.

GEN. HUERTA MUST GO WITH ALL HIS PARTY

Juarez, Mexico, May 18.—The news that General Huerta has authorized his delegates to the conference with the United States mediators to present his resignation should that act be necessary to bring peace to Mexico, is the statement from constitutionalists here that such an action would only increase the situation. They assert that their plans contemplate not only the elimination of Huerta, but also of his party.

"Any other course would not be entirely eliminate the clientifices from politics," said Antonio Villarreal, leader of General Carranza, "simply would mean another revolution. Another Huerta would spring up and the struggle would continue."

The news received here in regard to General Carranza, who was on his way to Torreon, Mexico, is expected to mean the statement outlining his attitude toward the situation as developed in Washington. It is possible that General Carranza will issue the statement from Torreon and also as the time of his arrival at Durango is announced.

Constitutionalist officials said little regarding information that Huerta intends delegates that Luis Cabrera would be accepted as the provisional president after the resignation of Huerta. It was pointed out, however, that the constitutionalists have not recognized General Carranza as provisional president and that Cabrera, who is a member of congress, not be allowed to decline that place if he asked. That would be a blow to Carranza, especially the generals of the army.

They added that Senor Cabrera, though thoroughly identified with the constitutionalist movement, is not known personally to all the constitutionalists.

Reports said that it was most improbable that Senor Cabrera would allow his name to be used in connection with the provisional presidency. These argued that the plan to appoint Cabrera provisional merely as an attempt by the Huerta party to confuse constitutionalists in the struggle in which they have been defeated at every turn.

FOUR AMERICAN WOMEN FLEE MEXICAN CAPITAL

Vera Cruz, May 18.—Mrs. Etta Reyes and her daughter, wife and daughter of a prominent American society in the Mexican capital, were among the refugees who arrived here today. They felt it necessary to leave Huerta's territory on account of the recent imprisonment of Americans. Since then her husband has remained under surveillance by the Huerta government.

Two days ago Mr. Reyes, who is an American, was ordered out of the republic by the Mexican authorities. No reason was given. The consul general the order was suspended. She was accused of conversing in the street with a meeting place for Madero supporters. Since then her husband has been closely watched by the secret service men and it is expected that this number will be tripled when the charges are investigated. Those banks having applications on file first will get their stock first. National and state banks and trust companies are eligible to membership. They must subscribe 6 per cent of their reserve fund and total capital.

Within three days at least the organization committee at Washington will name the three directors, and steps will be taken immediately thereafter for the election of the other six directors.

Banks holding stock in the reserve bank will elect or appoint a representative known as an elector; each bank so designated to act as electors; each elector then votes on the nominees, giving first, second and third choice.

Six men receiving the highest number of ballots will be the six directors of the bank.

There will be no other meetings of the stockholders of the organization until the charter is granted each stockholding bank will participate in all matters concerning the bank.

The certificate of organization which will be in the hands of the organization committee in Washington thereby serves as the organization, and protects the stockholding banks in the benefits derived under the act.

FIRST STEP TAKEN TOWARD ORGANIZATION

arrive in Atlanta about 7 o'clock Tuesday morning.

Edward Cruselle, the notary before whom the certificate of organization was drawn, was authorized to witness the signatures of the Tampa members and forward the document to Washington. When this is formally accomplished, the organization committee will proceed with the election or appointment of three directors to whom the charter will be issued and who will be authorized, under the reserve act, to take the stock subscriptions of the state and national banks which will form the bank of the Atlanta district.

The capital of Atlanta's reserve bank will exceed $2,000,000, according to estimates by bankers Monday afternoon. The certificate of organization which goes to Washington will show a total of 42,700 shares already subscribed.

Atlanta Is Headquarters.

Atlanta will be the headquarters of the bank. The district will include Georgia, Florida, Mississippi, Alabama, Louisiana and Tennessee.

Just who the three directors to be named by the organization committee in Washington will be is still a matter of conjecture. During the meeting of the local committee and at the luncheon tendered the representatives at the Capital City club by the Atlanta Clearing House association, several prominent Atlanta bankers were discussed, but their names were withheld from publication.

Because of the location of the bank in this district, no Atlanta or Georgia bank was designated to sign the organization certificate.

Atlanta's federal reserve bank today has the status of only lacking the signature of the Comptroller of the Currency to give it technical organization. This is the first step in the direction of formally organizing the bank. As soon as the certificate of incorporation is approved in Washington three directors of the bank will be named by the national committee and the charter granted. The banks forming the organization of Atlanta's district were designated by the committee in Washington.

The federal reserve banks of all the other districts will be put in motion with the exception of San Francisco, also were launched Monday.

The procedure by which the reserve banks will be incorporated is similar to the methods employed in the formation of national banks. Now that the organization has sign the certificate of organization. Of course, the five must be represented by stock holdings in the bank.

Board of Directors.

Nine members of the reserve bank will form the board of directors. Three of these will be named in the organization committee in Washington. Already 374 banks have applied for membership and it is expected that this number will be tripled when the charter is granted. Those banks having applications on file first will get their stock first. National and state banks and trust companies are eligible to membership. They must subscribe 6 per cent of their reserve fund and total capital.

Within three days at least the organization committee at Washington will name the three directors, and steps will be taken immediately thereafter for the election of the other six directors.

Banks holding stock in the reserve bank will elect or appoint a representative known as an elector; each bank so designated to act as electors; each elector then votes on the nominees, giving first, second and third choice.

Six men receiving the highest number of ballots will be the six directors of the bank.

There will be no other meetings of the stockholders of the organization until the charter is granted each stockholding bank will participate in all matters concerning the bank.

MAZATLAN FEDERALS READY TO SURRENDER

Los Angeles, May 18.—General Telles, the federal commander at Mazatlan, has offered to surrender the remnant of his troops if he is accorded the honors of war by General Obregon, according to advices received today. The message said a constitutionalist aeroplane wrecked La Pedra fort at Mazatlan today, killing twenty men and nutting all of the artillery there out of commission.

Further advices said Carranza was on his way back to Torreon and that General Buelna, who captured the city of Tepic, was en route to attack Guadalajara with 15,000 men.

Before starting to Torreon, Carranza went to the state of Zacatecas to confer with General Natera regarding plans for the march to Mexico City, which, it was stated, would be begun as soon as the constitutionalists have entered Saltillo.

EFFORT MADE TO KIDNAP SON OF JOHN W. BENNETT

Lad Enticed From Train Near Rome, But Saved by Bystanders.

Rome, Ga., May 18.—(Special.)—Through court proceedings today there came to light a sensational attempt to kidnap John W. Bennett, Jr., son of John W. Bennett, of Waycross, one of south Georgia's leading lawyers.

The lad, who is 12 years old, had been visiting his sister, Miss Juanita Bennett, a student at Shorter college, and when returning alone to Atlanta to meet his father, was enticed from the train at Lindale by a man who had evidently overheard his conversation with his sister at the station, and who had hastened by automobile to Lindale, five miles south of here. The man told the boy that his father was at a store near the Lindale depot, and wanted him to get off there instead of continuing to Atlanta. When the lad left the train an effort was made to get him to enter the waiting automobile, but L. H. Taylor, of Lindale, and other bystanders, suspecting something wrong, interfered and the man made his escape. The boy was brought back to Rome and placed in his sister's care.

From the description of Taylor and the boy, suspicion was directed to Homer Cone, a well-known young man about town, and Cone was today arrested on a warrant charging kidnaping. He insists that he is innocent and claims that it was a case of mistaken identity.

The commitment trial was set for today, but was postponed until June 4. Judge Bennett is in the city and states he will vigorously push the case. He declares that he knows of no reason for the attempted kidnaping.

COTTON SEED CRUSHERS MEET IN NEW ORLEANS

New Orleans, May 18.—Twenty-five proposed amendments to the official rules governing transactions in cotton seed and cotton seed products, agreed upon by the rules committee, will be discussed by the Interstate Cotton Seed Crushers' association, which began its eighteenth annual session here today. Votes on the amendments will be taken tomorrow.

The most discussed amendment is that proposing a change of a rule to permit members of the National Expeller Cottonseed Crushers' association to join the interstate body. If it is adopted it is said the former will go out of existence and its members affiliate with the interstate association.

Nearly 200 delegates were present when M. E. Singleton, of Chicago, president, called the convention to order. One of the features of the first session was an address prepared by Andrew M. Soule, of the Georgia A. & M. college on "Vital Facts for Seed Crushers," and read by Field Wallace, of Augusta, Ga.

Norfolk, Va., May 18.—The steam yacht Noma with Vincent Astor and his bride on board, arrived in the capes today and anchored for a while in Hampton Roads. Later she started up James river, supposedly bound for Westover," historic home of William Byrd, founder of Richmond, for the purchase of which Mr. Astor is said to be negotiating. The Noma is expected back here Thursday.

TOO MUCH SCIENCE IN OUR EDUCATION AND TOO LITTLE GOD

Washington, May 18.—Vice President Marshall's declaration that one of America's ills today "is that there is too much science in the so-called educational system and too little God Almighty," occasioned comment in Washington today. The statement was made at a church gathering here last night.

"There is this thing wrong in many of the churches," said the vice president, "that because church and state are separate and the state makes the schools, the church feels itself absolved from any duty in the direction of education of youth.

"The state is permitted to mold children from the age of 6 up through the time when they are going through college, where many of the professors are agnostics and atheists. But now the church is awakening to the fact that children should be reared in the way of Christian faith from the nursery upward. I believe that there is in this country today a great spiritual awakening and the church is beginning to see that it has turned over entirely too many of its functions to the state."

The vice president also let it be known that some day he would forget all of the other political parties and join the socialists.

"But," he added, "I shall never do this until it becomes a friend of the church; never while it flaunts on the streets a red banner in the face of faith in God and the marriage service. The socialism in which I believe and to which I shall some day cast my lot is not that which concerns itself with consideration of power and property, but that of spirit."

ATLANTA RANKS SECOND IN GETTING CONVENTIONS

Atlanta now ranks second as the Convention City of the United States, the conventions which she has scheduled for the next ninety days exceeding in number those of any other city, except Indianapolis.

Atlanta is not only the "Convention City of Dixie," but is rapidly being recognized as a "Convention City" by the entire United States. According to Russell's convention dates of April 25, which is conceded to be the best authority on conventions in the country, Atlanta has second place among the convention cities, Indianapolis alone having more conventions listed for the next ninety days from date of issue, which is the time covered by the convention dates.

Indianapolis led with 18 conventions, Atlanta next with 17; St. Louis, 17; Atlantic City, 16; Chicago, 15; Boston and New York city, 13 each; Minneapolis, 12; Detroit, 10, and Baltimore, 6.

POSING AS DETECTIVES, BURGLARS LOOT THEATER

New York, May 18.—Posing as detectives, four men gained entrance to a Broadway motion picture theater early today, made the watchman a prisoner, handcuffed three workmen who were in the theater, then blew open the safe in the box office, obtaining $10,000. The robbers were in the theater building three hours, and confined the watchman to wind the watchman's clocks at various points in the theater at the proper time so that no suspicion as to their presence would be noted on the outside.

PANAMA CANAL WORKERS TO SETTLE IN GEORGIA

Sumter County Plantation Inspected by Representatives of 500 Settlers.

Americus, Ga., May 18.—(Special.)—A party of ten capitalists, representing the purchasing committee of a syndicate organized to locate a colony of 500 settlers at some point in southwestern Georgia, spent a day here inspecting the great Huguenin plantation of 10,000 acres in Sumter county with a view to effecting its purchase.

J. F. Jackson, agricultural representative on the Central railway, brought the party here aboard a special car, and the entire day was spent upon the Huguenin plantation. The committee were greatly impressed with the plantation, its fertility and surroundings and expressed the belief that it would well serve the purpose of the colonists. The families proposed to be located here are former white laborers on the Panama canal, who now desire to locate in Georgia and engage in agricultural pursuits.

BAPTISTS OF THE SOUTH FEAR THE POPE'S AGENT

They View With Alarm the Presence of Vatican Representative in Washington.

Nashville, Tenn., May 18.—At its final session today the Southern Baptist convention adopted resolutions protesting against the representative of the Vatican being at the American seat of government. The resolutions set forth that 2,500,000 Southern Baptists viewed with alarm the disposition of governmental representatives to give sanction to the Catholic church by attending their services and official functions. The first business of the morning session was the report of a committee recommending the employment of a statistician. It was adopted.

A resolution providing that the convention have an exhibit at the Panama exposition in San Francisco was adopted.

Dr. E. C. Dargan, of Macon, Ga., was appointed fraternal delegate to the Northern Baptist convention in Boston in June.

The convention which convened at noon was the largest ever held by the denomination, the delegates registered numbering 1,325.

Seven thousand delegates and visitors crowded into Ryman auditorium Sunday afternoon to take part in the great Judson centennial mass meeting which was held as a part of the program of the convention.

One hundred years ago, Adoniram Judson, the first Baptist missionary, was appointed for service in foreign fields and the life of the great religious worker was reviewed by three speakers, who also told of the work done by the Baptist denomination. These speakers were Rev. J. B. Gambrell, of Dallas, Texas; Rev. E. M. Poteat, of Greenville, S. C., and Dr. W. J. Hamblen, of Lynchburg, Va.

It was explained that the Judson centennial movement was launched at the Southern Baptist convention at Oklahoma City in 1913, and is an effort to raise $1,250,000 from that time as a great missionary fund. In the two years that have passed, $602,574 has been secured. This effort will be made to raise the rest of the fund this year.

RAILROADS LOSE SUIT TO SECURE $31,000,000

Roads Allege Government's Method of Weighing the Mail Is Unfair.

Washington, May 18.—Claims of mail carrying railroads against the United States aggregating $31,000,000, and involving 720 railroads, were denied in a test case decided today by the court of claims. In an opinion by Chief Justice Campbell, the court reversed a former ruling and held that the present method of weighing mail to fix compensation for transportation is legal and proper.

The suit decided today was brought by the Chicago and Alton and involved $83,604. Nearly all the mail carrying roads had filed similar suits.

Prior to 1907 the postoffice department, in weighing mail, secured the average daily weight by weighing the mail carried for a period of 105 days and dividing the total by 60, the number of days exclusive of Sundays. Since 1907 the department has recognized Sunday as a working day and has made the devisor 105. By this means the railroads contended they were carrying about one-seventh of the mail without compensation.

This contention was upheld by the court of claims during the last administration, but Assistant Attorney General Huston Thompson secured a rehearing, which resulted in today's decision. The original finding would have held the government liable for $31,000,000 to 720 different roads.

MISSISSIPPI WARRING ON COTTON OIL MILLS

Jackson, Miss., May 18.—Hearings in the state's anti-trust suit against practically every cotton oil mill in the state began here today before Chancellor Z. F. Jones. The state charges the mill owners entered into a conspiracy to fix the price of cotton seed and demands statutory penalties amounting to almost $60,000,000.

Attorneys for the Western Union and Postal Telegraph companies are resisting subpoenas issued by the chancellor, commanding them to produce all messages relating to seed prices handled by oil companies. The state contends these messages, all in code, will show prices were fixed arbitrarily each day. Should the state's position regarding the subpoenas be upheld it is believed another fight will come over an effort to make public the key to the code supposed to have been used.

SODA WATER BOTTLE IN BODY OF CATFISH

Rome, Ga., May 18.—(Special.)—If the evidence of a huge catfish, caught in the Coosa river, may be believed, Rome fishermen have a new kind of bait. James Davis, deputy sheriff-elect, caught at 42-pound catfish in the Coosa river, near Rome, yesterday. When the fish was cleaned there was found in its body an 8-ounce soda water bottle.

Richmond, Va., May 18.—The opening session of the supreme reunion of Scottish Rite Masons was held in Masonic temple this afternoon, when ineffable degrees were conferred. Vice President Thomas R. Marshall, third-third degree Mason, has accepted an invitation to attend Thursday, the last day of the reunion, and speak at a banquet that night. Former Congressman James D. AMERICUS CHAUTAUQUA OPENED BY GOVERNOR

High Tribute Paid to Women Who Are Working for Hospital.

Americus, Ga., May 18.—(Special.)—Five thousand interested attendants upon the Americus chautauqua session heard this morning the eloquent address of Governor John M. Slaton, which was made the opening feature of the occasion.

Escorted by the Americus military and large numbers of prominent citizens, the pageant, led by a band, proceeded to the auditorium, where Governor Slaton was gracefully presented by Colonel George R. Ellis, of Americus. In his address of thirty minutes the governor paid a beautiful tribute to the women composing the Americus hospital association, under the auspices of which the chautauqua is held. His speech throughout was a tribute to southern womanhood, and made a splendid impression.

The annual parade of decorated automobiles and floats this afternoon was a magnificent spectacle. Sixty cars, filled with handsomely gowned matrons and beautiful girls, made a striking feature as they moved through crowded streets a length of three miles. Thousands of spectators enjoyed the day's festivities marking the chautauqua opening.

CARLISLE SCHOOL CHIEF IS FORCED TO RESIGN

Washington, May 18.—Resignations of Moses Friedman, superintendent, and S. J. Nori, chief clerk of the Carlisle Indian school, were accepted today by Cato Sells, commissioner of Indian affairs. Two persons holding minor positions at the school were transferred and another was removed.

Charges were filed several months ago against Friedman, Nori and others, and a congressional investigation resulted in Friedman's suspension. In accepting the resignations, Commissioner Sells stated that action did not indicate the attitude of the bureau on any phase of the accusations. The charges sustained by the congressional committee included laxity of discipline, unjust expulsion of students and misrepresentation of the school to the public by officials of the institution. Finding in the case, Mr. Sells said, had been referred to the department justice for such action as it sees fit to take.

Commissioner Sells announced today that a special officer of the bureau, who had been detailed at Carlisle recently, apprehended five men selling liquor to Indian students.

WOMEN SUFFRAGISTS ASK ANOTHER HEARING

Washington, May 18.—Demand for another hearing on the woman suffrage question was made upon the house rules committee today by a delegation of twenty members of the Just Government league, a suffrage organization of Maryland. Chairman Henry told the delegation, however, that since the democratic caucus has not included the suffrage issue in the session's program, the committee would take no action.

"We will have to see that the responsibility is placed on the democratic party at the next election," said one member as the delegation left.

JUDGE OVERRULES PLEA IN NAVAL STORES CASE

Akerman Successfully Opposes Defense's Point—Trial Set for Next Monday.

Savannah, Ga., May 18.—Judge W. I. Grubb late today overruled the plea in bar presented in the United States court by the counsel for the defendants in the so-called naval stores case and set the case for trial Monday, May 25. District Attorney Alexander Akerman spoke in opposition to the plea.

A plea in abatement was filed and argued by Judge S. B. Adams, counsel for the defense, in the case against E. S. Nash et al, known as the famous "American Naval Stores company case."

In the plea it was contended by the defense that the action of the supreme court for the United States in setting aside the case intended that it should never come up again. The further contention was made that the jury, in returning a verdict of guilty against the four defendants, individually, who comprised the American Naval Stores company, eliminated the American Naval Stores company. The point was made that these men composed the company and that in eliminating the company the individuals should also be eliminated and that to again place them on trial would be contrary to the law as they have already been in jeopardy under the same indictment.

VITAL FORCE

Disease germs are on every hand. They are in the very air we breathe. A system "run down" is a prey for them. One must have vital force to withstand them. Vital force depends on digestion—on whether or not food nourishes—on the quality of blood coursing through the body.

THE MEXICAN IMPASSE.

Dispatches from Washington indicate that the prospects for successful mediation and peace in Mexico have gotten down to that most unstable and inscrutable of all elements—the human equation. Upon the ambitions and obstinacy of three men—Huerta, Carranza and Villa—the fabric of hope built up by the three South American mediators, and by President Wilson, appears to depend.

Huerta's representatives at the Niagara Falls conference, speaking, of course, for him, have intimated broadly that Huerta understands he has lost; that he is ready to step down and out. But they also intimate that he will not consent that Carranza and Villa, who have brought him to bay, shall supersede him in Mexico.

Here we are brought square up against an impasse. Carranza and Villa have won more than half of Mexico from Huerta. Their capture of Tampico gives them an outlet on the gulf and probably unrestricted command of munitions. In a few weeks, or days, Villa will perhaps be thundering at the gates of Huerta's capital, with the men and the arms to make his demands effectual.

So, will Villa and Carranza, knowing that Mexico is virtually ready to drop into their laps, accept anything short of entire capitulation from Huerta, and the extension of constitutionalist rule over the entire country? That development, with Carranza as provisional president, would seem the natural and sensible solution. Backed by the moral influence of the United States government, it would restore at least for the time a stable probationary government.

Obviously, the mediators are faced by an intricate task. They cannot yield unqualifiedly to the demands of Huerta, since to do so would be to alienate the constitutionalists and prolong the revolution indefinitely. On the certainty, they cannot ignore Carranza and Villa, who have done more actual fighting than Mexico has seen since Porifirio Diaz, and who have already won their cause.

Villa as president is, of course, an impossibility. But he must be, in sense and justice, consulted and reckoned with. For Villa, the one big warrior of the revolution, typifies the Mexican peon, and the Mexican peon, comprising nine-tenths of the population, is the class behind historic disaffection in Mexico.

The best the optimist can hope is that Huerta, recognizing the inevitable, will develop the patriotism to control his perverted pride and step down and out. That would solve the situation. Certain it is that if the mediation is to be successful one of the recalcitrant elements must yield. And the yielding will not be done by Carranza or Villa.

PRESS AND PULPIT.

Dr. Washington Gladden, of Columbus, Ohio, told a gathering of journalists in Lawrence, Kan., recently that the newspaper profession is as sacred a calling as the ministry.

The statement will be startling to the lay reader, but it has many elements of truth. More especially does it hold in our twentieth century civilization, with the vast ramifications and influence of the newspaper.

When America was carved out of the wilderness, the clergyman and the politician were the main formative and constructive influences.

Then we began the development of our public school and university systems, that have yet to record their greatest progress.

Then came the tremendous influence of the press, made possible by the development of telegraphic facilities, the perfection of the rotary press and the incressing wealth of the country.

Today the newspaper speaks to virtually every man, woman and child in America. Even those who are illiterate are indirectly affected by its widening circles.

The minister gets in touch with his people at intervals. The pastoral side of the ministry has suffered much since the evolution of great American cities, and our diversity of interests makes it difficult to maintain the old-fashioned home life and house-to-house visiting.

These contrasts mean that whatever the press says, by way of news handling or editorial comment, strikes the great American mind with the effect of continual impact. Men may stay away from church. They do not forget their newspapers.

Therein lies the facts put a greater obligation upon men who follow the newspaper as a profession, and who view it as more than a source of livelihood. That obligation is to advance truth, to spread sound doctrines, to combat the mischievous and meretricious—in a nutshell, to stand for better citizenship.

To this especial newspaper creed The Constitution has ever subscribed. That is one of the reasons why one of the great national periodicals of America recently classified The Constitution as among the country's "six best newspapers."

WE STILL LOVE JOE.

Of course it's none of our business, but we would like to know just why The Constitution did not publish Joe Brown's last campaign speech. Is it that Joe is fixing to hatch out something distasteful to his erstwhile allies.—Lavonia Times.

The same thing happened again last Sunday. Joe Brown's letter was in The Journal, but not in The Constitution. Has The Constitution "peacefully" parted company with little Joe? And has The Journal and little Joe found the happy mean, and gone to bed together? What's the matter, anyhow? What's dead up the branch?—Commerce News.

Of course The Constitution holds "Little Joe" in as high regard as ever.

The Constitution did not publish the communications referred to simply because they were not in the shape to make the injunction to "Use in full" or "not at all."

Within the life of The Constitution no communication has ever been accepted subject to any other condition than that it will be handled according to its news merits. This rule applies with most newspapers the country over, and with The Constitution to everything from the president's message down.

If in the opinion of The Constitution a news item is worth a page or more, space will be given accordingly, but it often happens that the public is better served by presenting in concrete and comprehensive form an article which, if presented in its original shape, would have required far more space.

At any rate, The Constitution must be the judge of the space value of any item intended for its columns.

So we beg to assure our contemporaries that we are far from having "peacefully" parted company with Little Joe." We "always have and we always will love him." Not even he could drive us against him.

THE CALL OF THE LAND.

An interesting and practical analysis of the "back to the land" movement is contributed to a recent issue of The Sunday New York Herald by F. J. Merriam, of Atlanta, publisher of The Southern Ruralist.

Mr. Merriam deals with the subject from the angle of the city real estate boards, life appeals, but who has little capital save brain and none-too-strong muscles with which to work out his salvation. Citing a number of successes of this class that have come under his personal observation, he sums up:

Take the average city man who goes to the farm with an open mind and a natural love for the soil and plant life, and who is not afraid of work, and he will succeed three times out of four. In fact, his chance of success is far better than in business in the city, and his cares and worries will not be nearly so great. Very few grow rich at farming, it is true, but hundreds find comfort and independence. There are thousands of acres of good farm land all over this country, both North and South, where one can have health and where conditions are right for success with the use of ordinary intelligence.

Mr. Merriam is correct in saying that for a great many men the percentage of chances for success are greater in the country than the city. Great fortunes do not lie in wait for the farmer of average ability and capital, despite the vast aids science and a modern civilization give him today. Neither do great fortunes await this type of man in the city.

Mr. Merriam's conclusions are that given the same amount of application to farming as to any other business, and given the acceptance of scientific aid, the city man's prospects on the farm are excellent. He speaks with authority, since he himself laid the foundation for his success truck farming near Atlanta. There are plenty of similar opportunities in Georgia and other southern states for men of the Merriam brand of energy and resourcefulness.

Was The Constitution Not the Constellation?

Editor Constitution: Your Sunday issue in referring to the Baltimore celebration of the "National Star Spangled Banner," September 6 to 13, alludes to the Frigate Constellation—this should be the Frigate Constitution.

My uncle, Nathaniel Sheafe Waldron, was in command of the Frigate for many years, and I have now many of his logs kept at sea during trips around the world, along with some bric-a-brac he brought home from foreign shores.

The Constitution is the Frigate Admiral Hull commanded in 1812, while my father on the way from Washington, warning him not to leave Boston, that the English Frigate Guierer," was outside waiting to capture the Constitution, adding the Constitution was unable to cope with the Guierer. Before the order reached Admiral Hull he put to sea and on August 19, 1812, he met the Guierer. After a desperate battle, with the ships side by side, he captured the Guierer, taking her captain back to Boston and presenting him with a new chapeau, an agreement the two commanders had agreed upon several years before in event either one captured the other.

Yours truly,
E. WALDRON.

The Hopeful One.

I.

I just don't mind how the wild wind blows
Over the land of foaming snows;
I know, somewhere, there's a bright, sweet rose
That blooms in the light for me.
And the dark may creep,
And the tides may sweep,
But I thank the Lord as I sow and reap.

II.

I just don't mind how the world rolls on,
For the birds sing far and free,
And I know, somewhere, there's a rosy dawn
In a round, blue sky for me!
Let light be gone—
Be deep dark creep,
I'll thank the Lord as I sow and reap.

His Rushing Time.

Professing that he had met the devil on the highway, an old darkey was asked how he looked? Whereupon he replied:

"Bless God, I didn't have time to notice him!"

We have this from our friend, The Bentztown Bard:

"Love works when none suppose
At inner work—the rose,
The building of its delicate glow,
Molding the petal's form—and, lo.
Our magic told that takes our sleep,
And robs us of our dreams,
How little beside this mastery it seems
Of deliberate and patient skill,
Expressing the Masters will
In the exquisite perfume
And mold of bloom!"

And lets the mad world leave him;
His dearest friends his books; and they

That dripped on some dead daisy.

Let Life be false to tenderest ties
And all its friendships sever,
His books shall solace all his sighs—
Friends to his soul forever.

Exhibits of Proposed Plaza.

Editor Constitution: Why not erect at the Whitehall viaduct, and at Broad and Forsyth streets, stands for the display of drawing or plan of the proposed civic center improvement? The viaducts are not at present things of interest and might be made to serve a further practical use by advertising the "plaza plan."

Mr. Haralson Bleckly, no doubt, would furnish the drawings or large detail plans which could be placed somewhere on the viaduct and while in no way serving as an excuse for these bridges, it might offer a promise to visitors that some day we will do what should have been done long ago.

You may develop something from this and it is offered with the hope that you may help bring it before the proper heads of one of our many, many departments for action.

Anyway, the viaduct could be used as good advertising ground to picture a promised abatement of the now existing nuisance.

Atlanta Praised for Welcome to Shriners

"Atlanta Got There All Right."

(From The Macon Telegraph.)

The Telegraph has yet to hear a single complaint against the big show which the Shriners pulled off in Atlanta this week. Everybody was there—the crowds were good-humored and the Shriners' parade was the greatest ever.

Of course, Atlanta does not claim the credit for the fine showing which the different caravans made, but Atlanta "seen her duty and done it" just the same.

The Atlanta Constitution says that the visitors dropped about $3,000,000 in that city, and, as Atlantans usually measure success by dollars and cents, the Shriners' convention was a great success from the Atlanta viewpoint, as well as when viewed from the Shrine.

So, the affair was a success in every way. The visitors were pleased, Atlanta was pleased and good results and nation-wide fellowship and boosting for Atlanta and Georgia will be permanent.

"We Are Proud of Atlanta."

(From The Macon News.)

Is there another city in the United States only seventy-five years old, who could have taken care of the immense Shriners' convention as well as Atlanta?

The News doubts it.

In 1839, just three-quarters of a century ago, in this very month, Atlanta's settlement was established in Henry county. Soon it attained the dignity of a name, being called Marthasville by some and Terminus by others. Not until 1847 was it given the name of Atlanta.

By the time Sherman marched into Georgia Atlanta had grown and prospered and was practically in the city class. However, it was laid waste and desolated by the fiends of war, but, like the fabled Phoenix, it rose anew from the ashes. Ever since then it has grown and prospered without a let-up. Now it is a city of 180,000, and a city of which any state in the union might well be proud. In time Atlanta is going to be the New York, the metropolis, of the South.

Macon visitors to Atlanta and the Shriners themselves spoke of what the great convention was superbly handled. Despite the enormous crowds, every visitor was taken care of in an admirable manner. Eating and sleeping facilities were provided for all, although there must have been over 100,000 new faces in the city at one time.

Atlanta has lived up to the reputation of the Empire State of the South, and has done itself and the state credit and honor. The News is pleased to felicitate Atlanta on its achievement.

A Splendid Edition.

(From The Athens Banner.)

The Atlanta Constitution's special edition in honor of the visit of the Shriner's was a beauty and reflected great credit on the Gate City as well as on The Constitution.

A Reflex of Georgia.

(From The Lavonia Times.)

The Constitution came out Tuesday with an 88-page edition in compliment to the Shriners' convention in Atlanta. The paper was a reflex of Georgia and the south and was a credit to the hands and brains that planned and executed it. The paper is a complete paper and The Constitution has our congratulations in this best effort.

Universal Peace Not Delayed.

The vestal, Peace, now stands before the gates
Of James, and would fasten tight the bars:
But loud the tramping of the war-god, Mars,
Is heard throughout the land; yet, there she waits
And hopes against all hope, propitious Fates
May turn his course. Alas! the fateful stars
Shine banefully; the solid earth now jars
With warlike movements of conflicting states!

The people to the south of us are crazed
For war; so that, we may be forced to wage
A "war for peace;" hence, Universal Peace
O people of this land (in freedom raised),
Much may be done in this enlightened age:
Your leader aid, and War, itself, may cease.

DAILY GRIST From the STATE'S POLITICAL GRIND

JUDGE N. E. HARRIS TO OPEN CAMPAIGN ABOUT JUNE 1

Judge N. E. Harris, of Macon, who has been in the state on the convention of the Methodist church, at Oklahoma City, is expected home shortly and will make his first speech in the gubernatorial campaign about June 1. Judge Harris is a convincing speaker, thoroughly at home on the stump, and he is going to make an aggressive campaign.

June 1, by the way, seems to be the date that many things are scheduled to happen. It is intimated that Joseph M. Brown will break his long silence about that time; Hugh M. Dorsey has stated that he will make a statement on June 1, while W. H. Burwell, of Sparta, speaker of the house, has told his friends that he will also be heard from along about June 1.

Speaking of Joseph M. Brown, if ever a man possessed friends who claim to know to a dead moral certainty just what he is going to do, little Joe Brown is that self-same man. And yet, it is extremely doubtful if he has confided in a single person a single syllable regarding his intentions.

Friends claiming to be "on the inside" and to be absolutely in his confidence run up to Marietta every once in a while and return with some cocksure story to the effect that he is going to enter this office, or that or the other place. They KNOW it! But when you pin them down you find they have precious little definite knowledge on. The truth of the matter is that these predictions are based on what the friend "on the inside" wants Governor Brown to do, without any close study of the situation or the man himself. There are just three positions that he would care for. Friends of the former governor have assured other friends that he would run for those three places. If there were more places mentioned he would be more predictions.

The truth of the matter is, Little Joe hasn't said a word to any one. Or if he has said anything of his intentions he certainly has not discussed the matter with persons who were likely to let the cat out of the bag to the first person that came along with a ready ear to hear his opinion.

Little Joe needs no publicity agent. He needs no one to pass the word along that he is or is not going to do this or that or the other. He knows perfectly well that the moment he speaks folks are going to sit up and take notice. He might be having a peck of fun over the worry his silence is causing. It must be a great thing to have something to say—something that will startle people—and then just sit back serenely and watch. Keeping every one with ears to the ground! If Little Joe Brown has a sense of humor (and he has) he must be having lots of fun out of the present situation.

A man from Marietta stated Monday that the former governor had received a whole mail sack full of mail Monday. That's SOME mail! But just what was in those letters the man didn't know.

Politicians who have been in Washington city of late state that the impression there is strong that Mr. Brown will oppose Hoke Smith for the senate; that Mr. Smith is fully prepared to hear of the announcement at any time.

The foundation for this belief in the capital of the nation is, however, no more substantial than some of the local rumors that are going the rounds.

TOM HARDWICK SAYS HE WILL TELL ALL WHERE HE STANDS

Congressman Tom Hardwick, candidate to succeed the late Hon. A. O. Bacon, spent a few hours in the city Sunday. Commenting on the race he has the following to say:

"I am going face to face with the people in my race—and if I can get my opponents to be as frank and as outspoken upon all issues arising as I expect to be, there will be no doubt whatever where we all stand, on all questions raised, before the primary date arrives.

"I promise that there will be plenty of 'ginger' put into this senatorial race. I do not propose that any candidate for the senate shall sleep or even sleep committing himself with little interest, especially as the past he has hit the railroads some pretty hard raps himself.

"Meanwhile, Chairman Harris, while telling the people that he thinks the committee should meet again and change the rules, is making no move to bring that about, as he says he is satisfied the majority of the committee do not favor a new meeting and if one should be held the majority would doubtless oppose any change in the rules."

Patriotic Sacrifice of Brave Young Jews at Vera Cruz

(From an Exchange.)

When the United States marines made the first advance in the occupation of Vera Cruz, three of them were killed at the first fire. Among these was Beau H. Frohlichstein, son of Nathan H. Frohlichstein, a prominent citizen of Mobile, Ala. Young Frohlichstein enlisted at New Orleans, two years ago, in the marines, when he was but 18 years old. The family endeavored to persuade the young man to abandon the idea of a naval career, but he was determined in his purpose, as he was ambitious to work his way to a commission and to devote his life to the service of his country. He is survived by his father, a brother, John, and a sister, Mrs. Ralph Holberg.

Another Jewish young man who was killed in the occupation of Vera Cruz was Samuel Meisenberg, of 1412 Racine avenue, Chicago, who fell on April 21. "Sammy" Meisenberg enlisted something more than a year ago as a marine. He was placed in the mechanical department as an assistant wireless operator. For some reason he gave the name of Samuel Marten. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Meyer Meisenberg, who survive him. The body of young Meisenberg is expected to arrive in Chicago in time to be given a public funeral next Sunday. One hundred thousand citizens, soldiers and sailors are to follow the remains to the grave. Governor Dunne has directed Adjutant General Dickson to confer with Captain Decker, the Illinois naval reserve to arrange to furnish an escort and guard of honor at the funeral, and Mayor Harrison has signified his intention of being present. Among those who visited the parents, who are poor people, was Nathan Straus, the New York philanthropist, who left a liberal check to help them along.

Among those who were wounded at the occupation of Vera Cruz there was also a Jewish youth, Nathan Schwartz, seaman, assigned to the Florida, home address, 322 East 90th street, New York, whose brother, Henry Schwartz, at the same address, is next of kin, and who enlisted September, 1912, and also three other Jewish young men, whose injuries however, are not serious.

High Cost of Meeting Royalty.

Miss Louise Waggener, of Atchison, was not present at the coronation of the czar, simply because her father, W. P. Waggener, did not think it worth the expenditure of $600. The Atchison Globe says Miss Waggener received an invitation, but upon investigation found it would cost $600. She would have had to have a special dress and special shoes made; have to undergo three weeks' training in a special school and in addition have been loaded down with clothing. Considering all this she would have merely been ushered into the presence of the emperor and after making a bow would have retreated without a word being spoken. She wrote to her father and he replied that inasmuch as she had danced with the crown prince that he did not believe that her training abroad required the finishing touches of a court presentation to royalty. Miss Waggener writes of two American women who were presented and that each of their dresses cost $1,200, to say nothing of other expenses.

JUDGE HARRIS FOR GOVERNORSHIP

Cedartown, Ga., May 18.—(Special.)—The trustees of the public school at Fish, this county, have unanimously adopted resolutions indorsing the candidacy of William J. Harris for governor. This is Mr. Harris' home county.

In the resolutions it is cited that the prosperity of the public schools of the state is largely dependent upon the revenue derived from the rental of the Western and Atlantic railroad. The resolutions express the belief that of the candidates announced Mr. Harris is best fitted to handle the question of releasing the state road, and accordingly indorse him for governor.

COLONEL WAY, OF MOULTRIE, MAY BE CANDIDATE FOR STATE SENATE

Moultrie, Ga., May 18.—(Special.)—Colonel W. F. Way, a leading member of the Moultrie bar, may be a candidate for state senator from the seventh senatorial district this year. It being Colquitt county's time to name the senator. He is prominently known in Atlanta and throughout Georgia.

Colonel Way recently made the statement that he would in all probability be a candidate and said that in the event he was honored with this important representative office, he would not, under any circumstances, attempt to block the passage of bills coming from the lower house to the senate for final action, as he has earnestly declared in the nature and such as should be left to the judgment and direction of members of the house from the various counties of the senatorial district.

HARRIS MAKES STATEMENT ON HIS RAILROAD ATTITUDE

By John Corrigan, Jr.

Washington, D. C., May 18.—(Special.)—William J. Harris, director of the census, who has pitched his campaign on the idea that the next governor of Georgia ought not to be a man too close to the railroads, today gave out a statement referring to The Constitution's rejection of an editorial on this subject from The Telegraph. He says:

"It will be most unfortunate if the railroads of Georgia make it necessary for railroad attorneys for governor take the absurd position that any citizen of Georgia is making warfare on the railroads by insisting that the lease of the Western and Atlantic railroad should be made by the people and not by any one connected with the railroads bidding on the lease.

"Ever since I called attention to the fact that the length of time the common schools of Georgia would be open depended upon how wisely the Western and Atlantic railroad was leased and the amount of rental the state received from the road, and that for this reason the state committee should change its rules so as to permit the people at home under the constitution, instead of the politicians in a deadlocked convention to nominate the next governor, The Macon Telegraph has been trying to place me in a false position on this and other matters. I stated plainly that the people of Georgia were friendly to the railroads, but that it was not necessary to elect a railroad attorney governor at this time in order to prove our friendship.

"The Telegraph is supporting for governor, Hon. N. E. Harris, of Macon, a splendid man who for years has been attorney for the Southern railroad. Hon. J. Randolph Anderson, the attorney for the Seaboard Air Line, who is also a candidate for governor, is likewise an able lawyer. I have nothing to extract from my statement that if a railroad attorney is named for governor to assist in leasing the Western and Atlantic railroad, it should be done by the people at home and not in a deadlocked convention."

IMPORTANT LEGISLATION WILL BE URGED BY REPRESENTATIVE COOPER

Waycross, Ga., May 18.—(Special.)—According to Representative L. J. Cooper, of Ware, the bill introduced by him in the legislature last year providing for the creation of a county depository in place of the office of county treasurer will be passed at the 1914 session. He is confident of success, as by committee at the last session, and Mr. Cooper proposes to keep right behind the measure when the legislature convenes this summer.

Another bill he hopes to get favorable action on is the one he introduced last summer seeking to have insurance companies operating in Georgia domiciled in Georgia a certain per cent of their premiums.

Representative Cooper wants free school books for Georgia and says he proposes to work for the passage of such a bill. "I will support any measure that will relieve the $60,000 school children in Georgia from the extortions of the book trust," he says.

ANNOUNCEMENTS FOR LEGISLATURE ARE COMING SLOWLY IN HALL

Gainesville, May 18.—(Special.)—William F. Conner has announced for the legislature from Hall. This is the second announcement here for the legislature.

At present no official announcement for the state senate, Colonel J. G. Adams having withdrawn from the race. While Dr. C. Palmer has not as yet officially announced for that position, many of his friends have been urging him to make the race. Dr. Clifton Newton is also considering entering the field.

ATHENS BANNER COMMENTS ON REPLY OF JOE HILL HILL TO W. J. HARRIS

In a recent issue The Athens Banner carried the following interesting editorial comment on the discussion over the leasing of the state road:

"Joe Hill Hill, of Bibb, is not a candidate for the governorship this year, but he is taking a hand in the discussions that are arising over the race. Just now he is making excuses to the argument of State Chairman W. J. Harris in favor of a new meeting of the executive committee and the changing of the rules for the state primary.

"Chairman Harris, in his article published a few days since took occasion to refer to the fact that Hon. Nat E. Harris, one of the candidates for governor, is an attorney for the Southern railway and Hon. Randolph Anderson, another candidate, is an attorney for the Seaboard Air Line, and that it would be a bad thing for Georgia to have either as governor with the duty of re-leasing the Western and Atlantic railroad.

"Joe Hill is not to be out-done as a watchdog of the state's interests as he sees them, and he comes forward with a reply to Chairman Harris, in which he shows that the Southern railroad under the law of Georgia could not lease the Western and Atlantic and that while the Seaboard could lease it, he thought it would be a good thing for the state, furnishing Georgia another trunk line.

"Mr. Hall's contribution to the argument against the gubernatorial race will be read with interest, especially as the fact that he has hit the railroads some pretty hard raps himself.

"Meanwhile, Chairman Harris, while telling the people that he thinks the committee should meet again and change the rules, is making no move to bring that about, as he says he is satisfied the majority of the committee do not favor a new meeting and if one should be held the majority would doubtless oppose any change in the rules."

CEDARTOWN RESOLUTIONS INDORSE

JUDGE N. E. HARRIS FOR GOVERNORSHIP

Cedartown, Ga., May 18.—(Special.)—The trustees of the public school at Fish, this county, have unanimously adopted resolutions indorsing the candidacy of William J. Harris for governor. This is Mr. Harris' home county.

In the resolutions it is cited that the prosperity of the public schools of the state is largely dependent upon the revenue derived from the rental of the Western and Atlantic railroad. The resolutions express the belief that of the candidates announced Mr. Harris is best fitted to handle the question of releasing the state road, and accordingly indorse him for governor.

COLONEL WAY, OF MOULTRIE, MAY BE CANDIDATE FOR STATE SENATE

Moultrie, Ga., May 18.—(Special.)—Colonel W. F. Way, a leading member of the Moultrie bar, may be a candidate for state senator from the seventh senatorial district this year. It being Colquitt county's time to name the senator. He is prominently known in Atlanta and throughout Georgia.

Colonel Way recently made the statement that he would in all probability be a candidate and said that in the event he was honored with this important representative office, he would not, under any circumstances, attempt to block the passage of bills coming from the lower house to the senate for final action, as he has earnestly declared in the nature and such as should be left to the judgment and direction of members of the house from the various counties of the senatorial district.

HARRIS MAKES STATEMENT ON HIS RAILROAD ATTITUDE

MELLEN WILL RESUME HIS TESTIMONY TODAY

Washington, May 18.—Cles E. Mellen, former president of New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad, resumed tonight in Washington resume before the interstate commerce commission tomorrow his testimony dealing with financial transactions of the New Haven road and subsidiaries. Chairman Clark, of the commission, announced tonight that there had been no change in the program for the inquiry.

Mr. Mellen has informed the commission that he will reveal facts in his possession concerning the fabricate stock manipulations which the New Haven acquired in the stock of subsidiaries. He examines give not only dates and details of transactions, but the names of the persons who promoted and profited by them.

In the opinion tonight of the commission, such revelations may give those who lost money through the transactions power to reopen some, at least of their losses through court proceedings.

It appeared unlikely tonight that any of the New Haven's directors would be called to testify before Mellen's narrative is completed, was expected he would be on the stand several days.

BEVERIDGE OBJECTS TO WILSON POLICY

Indianapolis, Ind., May —Albert J. Beveridge, former United states senator, and now a candidate for the progressive ticket for that office, tonight criticised the Monroe doctrine and democratic administration of a dinner of the Indiana Progressive club here. He advocated a protectorate of Mexican policy by the United States, asserted that recent Mexican events had indicated that the United States had lost its place as first power in the western hemisphere and declared it could not see where mediation of the United American republics would result in peace.

Mr. Beveridge criticised President Wilson for not sending troops to Mexico before the American bluejackets were arrested at Tampico.

Watch Out, Editors! Atlanta's Writers To Market Wares

The writing business in Atlanta will soon be put upon a firm foundation, and the local literary output will be marketed on quite the same order of coal, copper, lumber and other equally profitable commodities.

The idea was advanced at a regular meeting of the Writers' club, held yesterday afternoon in the Carnegie library. A committee was appointed to formulate plans for the establishment of a bureau for the purpose of systematizing the production of Atlanta writers who belong to the organization. A report will be rendered at the next meeting Monday week. The suggestion was made by William Hurd Hillyer, who was appointed chairman of the committee.

The Writers' club is a new organization, Monday's meeting was the largest in attendance and the most enthusiastic of the three that have yet been held. President John Temple Graves was elevated to the position of honorary president, and William F. Parkhurst was elected to the active presidency. Milton McGovern was selected as secretary.

A delightful feature of Monday's meeting was the reading by Miss May Smith of a clever short story written by Mrs. Lollie Belle Wylie, author of "The Gloomy Girl," the playlet which was recently produced by the Norman Hackett Stock company. Miss Smith's reading was greeted by applause.

The meeting was brought to an end by the reading of the minutes by Miss Katherine Wooten, secretary, which showed the rapid progress the club has made.

HAGUE COURT MAY PASS ON FREE CANAL TOLLS

Sentiment Growing in the Senate in Favor of Arbitrating Dispute.

Washington, May 18.—With the canal tolls exemption controversy nearing a vote, sentiment in the senate is growing in favor of referring that question for the pending bill a resolution which would provide for the submission of the dispute between the United States and Great Britain to an international tribunal. Although senators who have been active in the fight are not sure it will win, they claim many of their colleagues are willing to adopt this course.

It was said tonight that Senator O'Gorman, leader of the forces fighting repeal, will not consent to arbitration, but the sentiment undoubtedly will meet with vigorous opposition among senators on both sides of the issue. It was intimated tonight that before the house passed the repeal bill, President Wilson was willing that the dispute should be settled by arbitration.

For Arbitration.

During the day three senators, two republicans and one democrat, added their voices to those who see in arbitration the best way out of the difficulty. Senator Sutherland made a vigorous speech on the exemption repeal bill, asserting that arbitration was the only way to settle this dispute. Senator Williams announced that he would gladly vote for arbitration, and Senator Borah declared that this plan was reasonable. A resolution providing for arbitration by Switzerland has been introduced by Senator Norris, and may come up for consideration before a vote is taken on the repeal measure.

"If this spirit of submitting this matter to arbitration had been manifest here before," said Senator Williams, "the bitter spirit that has been and has been voiced here, this question in its final settlement would have been avoided at all. All the senators have to do is shout for arbitration and the world is on the republican side today it developed that Senators Root and Lodge, as well as other republican members, in the fight for repeal, would favor arbitration.

A two-thirds vote of the senate would be necessary before the treaty could go into solution. Those opposed to the idea pointed out that arbitration would mean a long delay and that in the meantime the canal would be opened for operation and many complications would arise, no matter what the decision of the court might be.

No effort apparently has been made on the democratic side to sound out senators on the plan.

No Coercion by Wilson.

Senator Randell, of Louisiana, today denied on the floor of the senate that President Wilson had brought pressure on him or his colleague, Senator Thornton, by means of federal patronage, to vote for free sugar. "Newspaper article published in the Washington Post in response to a newspaper article published in the Washington Post.

"I had several interviews with the president during the early months of the tariff act," said Senator Randell, "but he never approached me, either forcibly, as he always does, that party loyalty required me to vote for the tariff act. I replied in like manner, but there was never any unpleasantness between us. I am sure he never intended to coerce me by patronage or otherwise."

Democratic leaders who expected a vote on the repeal bill Monday discovered today that the chance for this hope being realized was growing slim. Senator Jones gave notice today of his intention to speak on the repeal bill on that day, and it was understood that other senators might not decide to speak before Monday.

In the house today, Representative Henry, of Texas, explained the attitude of Secretary Bryan on the free tolls plank of the Baltimore platform.

DONALDSON RESIGNS AFTER FIST FIGHT

Mr. Girardeau informed him that he had spoken falsely when he did it.

This opinion of Mr. Girardeau's having been expressed further argument ensued, which Mr. Donaldson sought to terminate by the statement that he "was not going to be drawn into an argue with an idiot."

Mr. Girardeau resented this, and struck Mr. Donaldson, who then laid aside a package of meat he had purchased and joined battle in sprightly fashion.

Invited Outside.

At this juncture both combatants were invited out of the market to do their fighting.

Mr. Donaldson, it is said, went outside, while Mr. Girardeau stayed inside and bought some meat.

When Mr. Girardeau left the market the fight was not renewed.

Chairman Tull C. Waters, of the county board of commissioners, is expected to call a special meeting of the board early this week to consider Mr. Donaldson's resignation. Upon the accepting of Mr. Donaldson's resignation it would seem to be final.

It has been suggested that either J. T. Anderson or Oscar Jones, assistants of Superintendent Donaldson, may be put in temporary charge until a new superintendent can be appointed by the board.

For the place of superintendent to succeed Mr. Donaldson, the name of O. P. Kaufman has been mentioned.

PEACE HAS GREATER VICTORIES THAN WAR

Rabbi David Marx Delivers Address at the Educational Alliance.

"For no much as Israel's mission is peace and heroes of peace are just so much heroes as those of war, we are gathered together this evening to lay at rest up by our grandfathers and to detail from war as long as it isn't forced upon us. To day is a home and feast the battles of every-day life is far greater than making a hero of oneself by going to war."

Such was the text of an address delivered Sunday night by Rabbi David Marx at the Educational alliance, on Capitol avenue, during the peace jubilee which is being held under the auspices of the Council of Jewish Women, of Atlanta.

Similar sermons have been attending the celebration, which lasted two days—Sunday and Monday. Music was rendered by an orchestra, which played national airs, and a program of songs had been arranged by a chorus.

test. After the closing of the contest, however, and the result of same has been published, should the accuracy of the records questioned by any candidate in all liberty to examine the entire record if she pleases. Any candidate is at liberty at any time thereafter to examine the record so that she may be convinced beyond the shadow of doubt that everyone has been treated fairly and honestly.

The management of The Constitution guarantees each and every candidate a square deal. With this assurance from The Constitution there is no candidate who in any way can, for a moment, believe that she will not be placed on equal footing with every other candidate.

Three Hundred Thousand Extra Votes.

Three hundred thousand extra votes for new yearly subscriptions is the startling announcement made during the contest. As heretofore stated, very little has been done by the most active candidates. Anyone entering the race may have just as good chance to win one of the automobiles as those who registered their names with the institution as contestants a week or

There has been no much accomplished during the last three weeks the people have had little or no time vote their energy and effort to getting in this campaign. The contest is now over. People are settling down to business, and now is the time for prospective candidates to enter the contest, as now it is time for those who have already entered to begin to use every moment possible in securing votes. Those who delay much longer will be at a disadvantage.

It is presumed that you are in earnest about winning one of the best awards that The Constitution is to distribute in the last week of June. If so, you will strain every nerve to take the fullest advantage of the splendid offer of extra votes for clubs of new yearly subscriptions between this date and midnight, May 30. Three hundred thousand extra votes—at this time you collect $36 in new yearly subscriptions. At this rate you will get one million and two hundred thousand extra votes for just four clubs. Remember, two hundred and two hundred thousand extra votes over and above the regular schedule given for subscriptions.

It is within the power of every nominee to do this. Think what a million and two hundred thousand votes can do! You can get these votes if you will. You can do it. Everybody has a better chance than you have to win. You would be glad to have one or two clubs, and as many more as you could obtain, but able to gain the million and two hundred thousand and then for another million and two hundred thousand on top of that you would never have too many votes. The truth of this assertion will come to you with great force when the judges begin to count the votes after the close of the contest.

An excellent opportunity exists for your spare time during the $25,270 contest. Many people can get part of each day; this time should be put to good use. There is no cost attached; everything is free.

Automobile Prizes.

There are two five-passenger Oakland touring cars, first grand division prizes, of value $2,525 each. Two five-passenger Oakland touring cars, second grand division prizes, of value $1,560 each. Two five-passenger Oakland touring cars, of value $1,150 each, for third district prizes. One Lyon & Bates self-player pianos, of retail value $750, for second district prizes.

Two Cole "30" cars, one of the above named valuable prizes will be paid a month's salary at the rate of $10 for every $100 worth of new subscriptions turned in during the campaign. There will be no blank or failure to those who turn in $100 worth of new subscriptions.

The motor cars selected by The Constitution are the last of this year's seven-passenger Oakland touring cars and are an enviable reputation for easy riding ness and endurance wherever the automobile is known. They are the highest material by the best talent obtainable, and mean the ever-growing demand of a high-class car.

Next in order is the second grand division prizes—the two Velie five-passenger touring cars. Here is one big reason why The Constitution's offer is so strength has been secured in every part by the use of the best materials, giving a car of ample strength to stand every requirement, and yet a car that is much lighter than the average car of the same size and power. It is a car that is satisfactory in every detail of service and is always easy riding.

Then comes the nine five-passenger Overland touring cars—nine of them. Without a peer in their class, they stand as models of beauty and strength. The Overland is a standard at its price, and thousands of satisfied owners attest to the reliability of these cars under any and all circumstances. Nothing has been left unconsidered in the manufacture of this motor car that would tend to add to its power and endurance or to the comfort of its passengers.

You might as well have a choice of one of these automobiles as not, for they have been purchased for those who want them and who are willing to use a little of their spare time for the purpose of obtaining them. If you have not already entered this contest, send in your name now and start to work at the right time. It costs you nothing. A little energy put forth at this time will profit you greatly in this contest.

Nomination blank and voting coupon appear on editorial page. A four-column display announcement, explaining the three hundred thousand bonus vote offer, appears in this issue.

WARE AND WHITE HELD ON FEDERAL COMPLAINT

J. W. Ware and J. M. White, in business as Ware & White, wholesale drug sundries, at 65 Cone street, near James street, were yesterday brought before United States Commissioner Colquitt Carter by federal deputy marshal, charging them with violating section 246 of the United States penal code. Some days ago Special Agent Bailey, of the department of justice, was advised by the attorney general at Washington that complaint had been filed against J. W. Ware and J. M. White charging that they had been sending from one state to another "literature and other matter" fully described in the congressional enactment. When brought before Commissioner Carter both Ware and White waived preliminary trial and made bond to the federal grand jury in the sum of $1,000 each.

LEHON CONTEMPT TRIAL UP TODAY

Some of these latter witnesses even declared their affidavits were forgeries.

As to Detectives.

"I charge you to conduct diligently into this and find out which is false and to perform your duty in returning bills of indictment accordingly. Wherever you find a detective on either side who is guilty of causing these witnesses to commit perjury you will indict him in any manner, it will be your duty to proceed against him.

"I want to charge you specifically in regard to an affidavit made by a preacher named Ragsdale, in which he claimed to have heard Jim Conley, Jim Conley, confess the murder of Mary Phagan. Three days after having made the affidavit this man says it was false and that he had been paid $200, and that a man named Barber, who was also involved in the affidavit, was paid $100.

"It is your duty to find out if he was induced by money to make the affidavit, and not only your duty to indict him for perjury, but to indict the man who paid him. It is your duty to find out any detective employed by the defense knew of this transaction—if it existed—it shall be your duty to indict him also.

"There is another matter on which I want to charge you specifically. A clerk named Annie Maud Carter, a totally disreputable and utterly worthless character, made an affidavit declaring Jim Conley had confessed to the murder. After having made this statement the witness was removed from the jurisdiction of the court.

Who Engineered Transaction?

"You are charged to look into this and find out how much, if anything, she was paid to make this affidavit, and to find out who engineered the transaction. If the affidavit is true, then it is all right, but if otherwise, it shall be your duty to ascertain who engineered the frame-up.

"I think it not amiss to say here that the grand jury has communicated to me its knowledge of certain facts from another state, whether they be noted, famous, infamous or otherwise, to come here and refuse such witnesses the right to do business here. Those men do not defend the father, they encourage it. They are a menace to the state and an obstruction to the administration of justice.

"Never in the history of the state has there been a case which demanded the consideration of the grand jury more than this one, to which I have brought your attention."

The grand jury is composed of the following men: R. L. Willingham, foreman; E. Sims Massengale, Henry Lewis, H. K. Taylor, R. J. Rice, G. S. Pryor, Dr. Thomas Hoyt Ware, W. Ed. Fox, Charles B. Walker, R. M. Watkins, George Winship, Jr., J. J. Haverty, A. Waldauer, Jr., Adamson, J. W. McGee, James Bell, E. Rivers, R. A. Sims, Dr. Thomas D. Bell, R. S. Atkins.

Immediately following Judge Hill's charge, the jury adjourned until Wednesday morning.

The Tye motion to upset the Frank verdict again was postponed yesterday until next Saturday. Solicitor Dorsey has accumulated a mass of evidence to be offered in his counter showing, and his forces express confidence of victory. On the other hand, however, attorneys for the convicted man's defense declare that the motion will eventually gain Leo Frank's freedom.

METHODISTS CLING TO OLD VANDERBILT

General Conference Reconsiders Action and Will Fight to Establish "Rights of the Church."

Oklahoma City, Okla., May 18.—Acting on the suggestion of Judge N. E. Harris, of Georgia, the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, south, today reconsidered its action of Saturday, which virtually severed relations between Vanderbilt university and the church as a whole, and directed a redraft of the committee report to provide for joint action by commissioners to be named by the general conference in the renewal of litigation in an effort to establish rights which the church claims in the control of the university.

Under a recent ruling of the Tennessee supreme court the university was, in effect, removed from the direct jurisdiction of the general conference of the church. Action will now be taken either in state or federal courts in behalf of the patronizing conferences, which, it is pointed out, may have legal claims which the Tennessee court ruled the general conference has not.

Rights of the Church.

It developed in the arguments on the Vanderbilt case that the signers of the majority report, which was adopted by the conference late Saturday night, had discovered that the church held substantial interest of "negligible" rights in Vanderbilt, despite the rulings of the Tennessee supreme court.

Judge D. H. Lineaugh, chairman of the Vanderbilt committee, contended the acceptance of the Carnegie gift by the board of trust of Vanderbilt, over the veto of the bishops, was a violation of their trust, a dishonor to the church that had created an "irreconcilable difference." He declared the legal title to Vanderbilt was in the hands of trustees, but an equitable title rested in the patronizing conferences and the majority of the committee believed the right of recovery can be exercised only by those conferences.

In reply to a question, Judge Lineaugh said the general conference, through its board of education, cannot demand that the board of trust return the Carnegie gift, but the patronizing conferences, being owners in equity, has the right.

Views of Judge Harris.

Judge N. E. Harris, of the Georgia conference, insisted the majority report was the most feasible means of securing a full test of the church's rights to the university. He said the courts hadn't passed on the charter rights of the patronizing conferences, and the majority report "was intended to give those conferences the privilege of testing their rights in the federal courts. He read the proposed supplementary legislation to correct the majority report, to provide for the continuing relations for the interim between adjournment of the general body and the meeting of the commission named by Vanderbilt to the patronizing conferences. This amendment gives the board of education the power to confirm or reject trustees and calls on the commission to safeguard the interests of the church.

As adopted Saturday, the committee report declared that vested rights in the church might retain in the university as the representative of the conferences which were the donors of the university, the general conference and provided for the establishment of Methodist university, a representative educational institution of the church.

The majority report intended to give conference today directed the committee to incorporate in the proposed constitution the board of education to continue to exercise authority over the university in the selection of trustees and "to safeguard to the utmost the interests of the church" until such time as the transfer to the patronizing conferences is complete.

To Seek Control.

A commission, named by the general conference, is charged to act jointly with the commission named by the patronizing conferences in establishing the latter in control of the university "and in the legal procedure necessary to enforce the same and to act for the patronizing conferences in the assertion of rights to Vanderbilt university."

An early return of the amended report is anticipated.

The vote today ordering the revision was practically unanimous.

The conference today also approved the report of the committee on education which indorsed the work of the general board for the quadrennium and ratified the plan for the creation of an endowment fund. It was suggested in the report that $500,000 be raised during the next quadrennium, the question of laity rights in education was made the special order for tomorrow morning.

Before adjournment today prayers were said for the success of the mediators in their efforts to adjust the Mexican situation.

THE SERVANT QUESTION SOLVED

So Far as This Lady Is Concerned—She Doesn't Seem to Need One.

Pollock, La.—Mrs. T. S. Blair, of this town, has the following to say, which should be of interest to women generally: "For months my health was very bad, and the medicines I took did not seem to do me any good.

I was very weak and nervous, and some days I could not be up.

I asked my husband to get me a bottle of Cardui, the woman's tonic, to try, and before I had taken one bottle I was up and doing my work. Before I commenced taking Cardui I had such spells I was not able to do anything. Now I have only taken three bottles of Cardui in all, and I feel fine.

A few months ago I weighed 125 pounds. Now I weigh 158, and I do all my own work, cook, wash and milk—and feel like I did when I was 'sweet sixteen.'

Taking Cardui has cured me."

As a relief from the distressing symptoms of womanly ailments, nothing has been found during the past 50 years that would take the place of Cardui.

Its superiority is still unquestioned as a mild, building tonic for cases of womanly weakness where tired nature needs help. Made from purely vegetable ingredients, Cardui has no bad after effects and can do you nothing but good.

Try Cardui.

SHRINE WEEK CAUSES SHORT COUNCIL MEET

Few Committees Met, So There Was Little Work for the City Fathers.

Echoes of the Shrine conclave were heard when Atlanta's general council met yesterday afternoon. Because there was merriment even within the walls of the city hall during the week, only a few of the committees met, and as a consequence all city business was transacted within the brief space of forty-five minutes.

The most important matter taken up was the appointment of a conference committee to endeavor to adjust a difference of opinion between the aldermanic board and the common council. At the previous meeting council adopted a resolution authorizing the transfer of $1,000 from the "auto repair fund" of the board of health to the "auto purchase" fund. The resolution was offered by Councilman Claude C. Ashley with the sanction of the health board, and was for the purpose of buying two new autos for City Physicians Hall and Wilkins.

Aldermen Sustained.

When the aldermanic board met it disapproved council's action, and sent the resolution back, together with the resolution authorizing the placing of the sidewalk and curbing on Glenwood avenue.

The conference committee appointed by Mayor Pro Tem. Candler sustained the action of the aldermanic board.

The police committee, through Chairman Colcord, adversed the application of the Gate City Dancing academy to open a dancing school at No. 53½ Houston street.

The sewer committee awarded the contract for two groups of sewers, or about three and a half miles, to F. D. Harvey & Co., of Memphis, on bids of $13,910 for the entire group; the estimates being based on the estimates on quantities to be laid. The contract will include sewers on about sixty streets.

Councilman Claude Mason and Alderman James R. Nutting offered a resolution thanking Potentate Forrest Adair and the committees working under his direction for the magnificent entertainment during Shrine week. The resolution was adopted.

Councilman Jesse Wood offered a resolution, which was passed, compli menting Chief John Gentsen, of the sanitary department, for the efficient manner in which he handled the street-cleaning forces during the week.

Will Regulate Sale.

Alderman Armistead offered an ordinance which seeks to regulate the sale of bankrupt stocks, and making it a misdemeanor for any one to practice deception in sales other than judicial sales.

The ordinance was referred to the ordinance committee.

The board of health recommended an ordinance authorizing the purchase of an auto for the use of the night superintendent of the street cleaning gangs. The resolution was referred to the health committee.

THIS TIGER WAS READY FOR MANY CUSTOMERS

Detectives Arrowood and Boyce found, Saturday night, 107 pints of whisky and 42 pint bottles of "old gin," concealed in a blind drawer, underneath the leaves of the dining room table in the home of an alleged blind tiger.

As the result of the discovery, J. W. Stephens, a crippled negro, of 108 Latkin street, was fined $50.75 in police court Monday afternoon by Recorder Pro Tem. Preston for running a blind tiger.

EXCITEMENT IS CAUSED BY BLAZE NEAR ARAGON

Considerable excitement was created by a blaze on the roof of the one-story buildings from 161 to 169 Peachtree street, near the Aragon hotel, Monday morning about 9:30 o'clock.

Half a dozen fire calls were turned in by occupants of the buildings, and the whole downtown fire equipment answered the alarms. The fire was extinguished in short time with the aid of a chemical stream. It is supposed to have started from sparks from a chimney of the Aragon hotel

PAWNBROKER LOSES BECAUSE HIS WATCH WAS A CHEAPER ONE

A question of correctness in time as shown by the hands of a $10 watch and a $1 watch, caused B. Cohen, proprietor of the Star Loan office, at 174 Decatur street, to pay $18.75 as a fine in police court Monday morning upon the testimony of Call Officer O. R. Jones.

Officer Jones testified that he leaned out of a window at police station shortly before 7 o'clock Monday morning and noticed that Cohen was taking down the shutters to his pawnshop.

There is a city ordinance prohibiting pawnshops from opening before 7 o'clock in the morning.

Call Officer Jones took out his trusty watch and saw that the hands pointed to 7¼ minutes to 7 o'clock.

He stepped across the street and made a case against Cohen.

Cohen, in police court, remonstrated against the action of the officer, claiming that his watch showed that the correct time was 7 o'clock, and that he ought not to be fined.

The judge then asked the prices of the two watches.

Officer Jones replied that his watch cost $10.

Cohen admitted his watch cost $1.

The judge decided that the higher-priced watch was right, and fined Cohen.

MANY SMALL THEFTS REPORTED TO POLICE

Many small robberies were reported to the police yesterday, indicating that petty thieving is again breaking forth in the city.

H. J. Beall, 410 Oakland avenue, reported that his pockets were ransacked of seven five-dollar bills and four one-dollar bills, while going home on a Woodward avenue car Sunday.

A. L. Newbeck, of Doraville, Ga., reported that at the corner of Decatur and Butler streets, almost under the shadow of police station, two negroes held him up and robbed him of $16 and a 15-jewel watch. He described the highwaymen as being a tall yellow negro, wearing a light suit of clothes, and a dark negro, black suit of clothes and a black Stetson hat.

Dr. H. S. Hoyt, living on Piedmont avenue just beyond the Driving club, reported that $95 had been stolen from him some time during Sunday. The money consisted of two twenty-dollar bills, two twenty-dollar gold pieces and three five-dollar gold pieces. A negro is named as a suspect.

Operation Necessary To Remove Plum Seed From Throat of Boy

Pelham, Ga., May 18.—(Special.)—While eating plums yesterday morning, Robert, the 10-year-old son of W. B. Cox, of Hinsonton, got a seed lodged in his throat and an operation was necessary today to remove it.

When the boy was about a year and a half old he swallowed some potash, which ate a small hole in the bottom of his throat, and quite often he has had food to lodge in it, but physicians have herestofore been able to get them out.

The plum seed was larger, and physicians here and at Thomasville made unsuccesful probes for it several times yesterday and today. He was carried to the Walker sanitarium at Cairo this morning, and an operation was necessary before the seed could be removed. He will recover from the operation. While articles are lodged in the boy's throat in this manner, he is unable to swallow food or even water.

JUDGE VINSON SPEAKS AT LOUISVILLE COURT

Louisville, Ga., May 18.—(Special.)—Judge Fred Vinson, candidate for congress from the tenth district, spoke here today at the noon hour of the city court. His speech was necessarily short on account of limited time, and he only touched upon the main issues of the campaign, promising to return to Louisville at a later date and discuss more fully political questions.

Today he took up the line of discussion that he has been following in his past speeches, covering other things. He advocated the elimination of gambling in the New York cotton exchanges, the segregation of the races in the department at Washington and a more economical administration of our army and navy. He dealt humorously with his opponents, and paid his respects to each one of them.

Judge Vinson spoke this morning in Gibson, and will speak Wednesday night at Matthews and Saturday afternoon at Bartow.

T. W. HARDWICK SPEAKS IN DECATUR COUNTY

Bainbridge, Ga., May 18.—(Special.) Hon. T. W. Hardwick spoke here this afternoon to a crowd that filled the courthouse.

His speech was devoid of sensationalism. He asked votes on his record and his birth in the south and residence in middle Georgia. Mr. Slaton's record was ridiculed as consisting of publicly favoring one side while in the legislature and privately working against it. He spoke of Mr. Slaton's desire of being considered a good fellow, giving picnics and barbecues and speaking at county fairs. He said it was wrong for Atlanta to have two senators.

Gainesville, Ga., May 18.—(Special.) The First Methodist church here held memorial services last evening in honor of Dr. C. E. Dowman, of Emory college, Oxford, Ga., whose death occurred Saturday evening at that place. The First Methodist church at this place was the last pastorate held by Dr. Dowman, he being elected dean of the theological department of Emory college upon his leaving Gainesville.

A committee from the Sunday school and church jointly sent a beautiful floral design for the funeral, which occurred from his late home in Rome this afternoon.

CENTRAL ROAD TIED UP BY BURNING OF TRESTLE

Macon, Ga., May 18.—(Special.)—The Athens division of the Central of Georgia railway will be tied up for several hours because of the burning of a 150-foot trestle near Godfrey, 60 miles above Macon. The fire occurred late this afternoon. Relief trains were sent from Athens and Macon to rebuild the trestle and the road will be open for traffic by noon tomorrow. In the meantime trains are being detoured by the way of Covington and the Georgia railroad.

SISTER COMES TO AID OF BROTHER IN JAIL

Former Baseball Star Has Alleged Impersonator Put Under Arrest.

Paul Bartlett, captain of the University of Georgia championship baseball team of 1911, and a well-known young attorney-at-law, connected with Moore & Branch, caused the arrest of Fred C. McManus, 20 years old, of 99 Dodd avenue, Monday afternoon on the charge of going into several law offices in the city and borrowing law books from stenographers in the absence of the lawyer, by representing that he was Mr. Bartlett.

Mr. Bartlett charges that McManus has been selling these law books to the Harrison Law Book Supply company and has received $25 cash for them checks made payable in his name.

The other day charges Mr. Bartlett, McManus forged an order in his name upon the law book supply company for two law books, valued at $7.50 each.

James Slaton, of the firm of Rosser, Brandon, Slaton & Phillips, who was a classmate of Mr. Bartlett's and who was one of the victims, Monday afternoon began an investigation. When he discovered the truth, he and Bartlett shook hands and had a good laugh about the affair.

Bartlett told McManus at police station that if he would settle for the damage he has done he would not prosecute him. The young sister of McManus was at police station pleading for her brother, which caused Bartlett to be willing to give his consent to settle the affair. The young girl is making every effort possible in behalf of her brother to settle the matter out of court.

PLEAS WILLIAMSON, WHO SLEW MARSHAL, GIVES HIMSELF UP

Butler, Ga., May 18.—(Special.)—Pleas Williamson, who killed Chief Marshal Jack Burke on the streets of Butler on May 9 by shooting him in the right breast, and for whose arrest a reward of $400 has been offered, surrendered to the sheriff of this county at his home, 6 miles south of Butler, today at noon. He was immediately brought to Butler and occupies a cell in the county jail. He has waived commitment trial, and will await the action of the next grand jury, which will not be in session until October.

F. W. Williamson, brother of Pleas Williamson, charged with being an accessory to the killing of the officer, was given a preliminary hearing Saturday. The evidence produced at this trial warranted his commitment to jail without being allowed to make bail to await further action of the court.

Excitement that was at boiling heat a week ago has simmered down to normal conditions. Much relief has been afforded by Pleas Williamson's coming out of the swamp at White Water creek, near his home, and giving up to the officers of the law. Self-defense will be the plea entered by Pleas Williamson.

NEW LINE-UP FOR CRACKERS IN THE CONTEST TODAY

Mobile, Ala., May 18.—(Special.)—Billy Smith will change his line-up tomorrow to the following order: McConnell, Kircher, Welchonce, Long, Flanagan, Jennings, Eibel, catcher, pitcher.

By G. J. Flournoy.

Mobile, Ala., May 18.—(Special.)—Mobile got to Doscher, the Atlanta pitcher, in the early stages of the game today and won the second of the series by a score of 5 to 3.

Townsend, a local southpaw, who was on the mound for the Gulls, pitched winning ball and had only one bad inning, and that was in the sixth, when the visitors made their only runs of the game, three hits, including a home run over right field fence by Eibel, scoring men ahead of him.

Lord, in the third, with two down, put the ball over the wall for a trip around the circuit. Two errors in the third gave Mobile their fifth and last run. Munch, missing a throw at the plate to catch Hudnall, who came home from third on a squeeze play.

Manager Smith shifted his line-up in the second inning, sending Kircher to right and Holland to third. Kircher featured the game with three hits, one of that many tripe to the plate, one of the blows being a home run.

Two Good Chances.

Atlanta had men on third in the fourth and seventh innings, but could not score. Dunn batted for Kircher in the ninth, and got to first when Townsend missed his hard hit ball. Manning ran for him, but advanced no further.

Second Baseman McConnell, of the visitors, injured his right hand trying to get Kirby at second in the seventh, but remained in the game.

Mobile practically clinched the contest in the first inning. O'Dell, first man batked, was sacrificed to second by Perry. Kirby hit for two bags in deep center, the ball going to the fence and O'Dell scored. Lord was sacrificed and on Schmidt's long fly to right Kirby went to third. Lord stole second, Hudnall dropped a safe hit back of second and Kirby and Lord scored. Miller ending the inning by going out from Kircher to Eibel.

Lord's home run in the third, his second this season, gave the locals their fourth run.

Eibel's Homer.

Atlanta, in the sixth, started a rally and put up three runs over. Long fouled out to Schmidt. Welchonce singled to left and was forced at second by Holland. Kircher doubled to right and Holland went to third. Eibel, after one ball was called on him, hit for a homer over the right field wall, scoring Holland and Kircher ahead of him. Munch stopped the run-making by flying to Perry.

Slow base running on the part of Doscher prevented a run in the seventh for Atlanta. Doscher singled to right and McConnell was safe on Perry's error, and on Jennings' sacrifice both runners moved up. Eibel hit short for the squeeze, and Dobard dropped the ball, but recovered it and threw Doscher out, who could have scored easily had he slid in. Long ended further chances of run-making by going out stealing.

Barons 6, Turtles 2.

Birmingham, Ala., May 18.—After winning a twelve-inning battle yesterday from the locals, the Memphis team suffered a relapse here this afternoon and went down before the pitching of Dick Robertson in a game featured by the poor control during the earlier rounds of the fingers of both teams. The score was 6 to 2. Goulait, an outfielder, was forced to go upon the mound for Memphis, as four of the visiting pitchers were delayed from reaching the city by a wreck northeast of New Orleans. Goulait had trouble in controlling the ball and the Barons secured enough runs during the first four innings to sew up the game. The delayed pulyers got in toward the middle of the game and Siebhardt was sent to the rescue of Goulait in the fifth.

NEGRO TEAMS PLAY. Atlanta Giants Face Morris Brown Today.

The Atlanta Giants and the Morris Brown university will play today at 3:30 o'clock on the college campus, corner Boulevard and Houston. The Atlanta Giants will represent Atlanta in the colored league. These games will go to show whether the colored people of Atlanta wish to have a colored league. It all depends on the attendance at tomorrow and Wednesday's game.

Morris Brown has the strongest colored team in the south, and it will give the Atlanta Giants a good workout before their season starts.

FORMWALT WINNER IN OPENING GAME

Defeats Oakland in Play-Off for Grammar School Title—Second Game Wednesday.

In one of the prettiest pitchers' battles ever witnessed between two teams in the local Grammar league, Formwalt won the opening game of the series between himself and Oakland for the 1914 championship. The score was 4 to 3.

From the start, the game developed into a monster pitching duel between Wallace and McLoughlin, and it was a beautiful battle. Four Formwalt batters fanned eighteen of the twenty-seven batters who faced them, and without doubt, while McLoughlin made fifteen Formwalt players whiff at his benders.

Formwalt annexed the hits off of McLoughlin, while the Oakland warriors got six off of Wallace. The Bach team made four errors, and the four that Oakland made were very disastrous to the team.

Holbrook, left fielder for the Oakland team, was the only man that was able to connect more than once for a safety. Holbrook getting two out of four attempts.

The second game of the series will be played Wednesday, at Brisbine park, and the same two pitchers will probably try conclusions again.

This afternoon at Brisbine park a game will be staged between Edgewood and Peoples, the latter team that finished second in their respective leagues.

SAVANNAH SPORTS STAGE COCK FIGHT IN MIDDLE OF RIVER

Savannah, Ga., May 18.—(Special.)—Their plans to hold a cock fight just across the Savannah river in South Carolina Sunday being frustrated through a tip sent Governor Cole L. Blease by Mrs. L. D. Weatherbee, secretary of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, a party of Savannah sportsmen secured a barge, towed out into the river and held the fight safe from the authorities of Georgia and South Carolina.

Mrs. Weatherbee wrote Governor Blease Saturday that she was informed the fight was to be held at a place called Proctors, in South Carolina.

The custom of holding the fights on Georgia soil had been abandoned because of Mrs. Weatherbee's efforts. When the Savannah sportsmen got across the rivers they found two South Carolina officers waiting for them and they immediately gave up the idea of holding the fight at the place originally selected.

Spotting Pitcher.

THE CRACKERS deserve criticism on one point more than anything else. They are spotting opposing twirlers one strike. Townsend, in the game Monday, slipped across the first strike on every batter up but two during the game, Eibel hitting the first ball pitched in the eighth and Munch in the ninth. Aside from this, Townsend had one strike on every batter during the game. If the locals would mix it up and take a crack at the first one now and then, the opposing twirlers would be a little more careful how they groove it.

Must Strengthen.

IF PLAYERS can be purchased, Bill Smith must strengthen, if he hopes to stay in the running. We are not going to pick out any particular weak spot and critices any particular player, Manager Smith and the fans know what the weak spots of the team are without anyone showing them. But the Feds have us buffaloed in getting any men from the big tent. The players that we have had offered to us are not as good as those we already have.

Slight Hope.

THE ELIMINATION of Jerome Travers, the American amateur golf champion, from the British amateur golf championship in the first round, just about kills all hopes of the Americans for bringing back the trophy. Chick Evans is of too nervous a temperament and too much responsibility will rest on the youngster Ouimet for him to play his best. Travers was the best match player of the American contingent, and as luck would have it, he got the toughest match play of the lot in the first round, losing the match on the last two holes.

Right on Heels.

THE PENNANT races in the two big leagues are beginning to shake down to something normal. The fans of the Detroit Tigers and the Pittsburg Pirates is being rapidly cut down, and if you will glance at the standings you will see that the Athletics and Giants, who make a specialty of pennant winning, are right on their heels.

Due Thanks.

THE ATHLETIC authorities at Georgia Tech are due the thanks of the sporting public of Georgia for the interest that they are taking in field and track athletics. The acquisition of the coming state prep school track meet on Saturday is a step in the right direction. Georgia has not given its proper attention to this branch of sports, and the more of Tech in developing good athletes before they reach the college age is the right one. The Constitution beat them to it, however, by encouraging this work among grammar school boys, and the Tech project follows behind very nicely.

Present Trips.

THE INTERSECTION series in the National, American and Southern leagues, which are now in progress, will, at their conclusion next week, furnish the fans with an idea of the relative strength of the east v. west in the majors, and the north v. the south in the Southern. The east appears to be generally stronger in the majors, and the north in the Southern.

Due Patronage.

THE LOCAL Motordrome is due the patronage of lovers of speed contests. They are staging wonderful races at every meet, and the average time at each event is better than at any motorcycle race meet ever held anywhere. The best riders and the fastest machines in the business are at the local track, and they are riding fine races, but the attendance has not been in keeping with the class of performances that have been staged.

Give Him Credit.

AMBY MCCONNELL, the Crackers' little second baseman, is playing a grand game for the locals in every department. Those who were prone to knock the little fellow during the training season had better stay off of him in the future. Amby is playing as good baseball as he ever played in his career, and there are several big league teams that we might mention that could use him to advantage on their keystone. Amby's useful playing days are far from being all over.

REHEARING IS ASKED IN JACK JOHNSON CASE

Chicago, May 18.—The United States circuit court of appeals today took under advisement the appeal of the federal district attorney for a rehearing in the case of Jack Johnson, negro prize-fighter, convicted of violating the Mann law.

The high court recently ruled that Johnson should be retried on some of the counts of the indictment against him, and that he should be resentenced. Johnson had been fined $1,000 and sentenced to a year and a day in the penitentiary by the district court.

District Attorney Wilkerson argued today that the sentence of the district court had been right in every count.

Milledgeville, Ga., May 18.—(Special.) Georgia Military college defeated Riverside today after a wonderful 2 to 0. The feature of the game was Gheesling's wonderful work in the box and Anderson's mates was completely baffled by him, making only one clean hit and that in the ninth.

GEORGIANS ASK WILSON TO MIDWAY UNVEILING

Washington, May 18.—Senator Hoke Smith and Representatives Edwards and Howard, of Georgia, called on President Wilson today and invited him to attend the unveiling of a memorial to General James Screven and General Daniel Stewart, revolutionary heroes who were born at Midway, Ga. The president assured the delegation that he would endeavor to attend the unveiling if they would arrange a date in October.

Mrs. Wilson's grandfather was pastor of the Presbyterian church at Midway for many years. The date will be arranged to suit the president's convenience.

Brigadiers for Marines.

Washington, May 18.—To increase the efficiency of the marine corps, Representative Britten, of Illinois, planned to introduce a bill today to create the grade of brigadier general in that corps. The measure would provide for the appointment of two officers of this new grade by the president. Present emergencies in Mexico, Mr. Britten asserts, have demonstrated the need for legislation of this character. The bill is designed to make the marine corps conform with the army organization.

Four Americans Remain In British Title Play

Sandwich, Eng., May 18.—Four Americans, Francis Ouimet, of the Woodland Golf club, Massachusetts, open golf champion of the United States; Frederick Herreshoff, New York; Charles W. Evans, Jr., Chicago, and Fraser Hale, Chicago, defeated their opponents in the first round today for the British amateur golf championship and thus qualified for the second stage.

Four other Americans, Jerome D. Travers, of Montclair, N. J., amateur golf champion of the United States; Henry J. Topping, Greenwich Country club, Connecticut; C. W. Inslee, Oneida County Community club, New York, and Edward S. Knapp, Westbrook, were put out of the tournament by their opponents.

The two American entrants, Harold Weber, of Toledo, Ohio, and Arthur G. Lockwood, Belmont Springs Country club, Massachusetts, did not play; the former because there was not time for all the contestants to play the first round and the latter because he had drawn a bye in this round. Both will play tomorrow.

Defeat of Travers.

The defeat of Jerome D. Travers caused an even greater sensation, if possible, than his victory in the finals would have done, for he was regarded as the most dangerous of the American competitors. He made no excuse for his defeat, however, saying: "I am chiefly disappointed because I played such poor golf."

Travers really lost the match on the greens. A spell of brilliant sunshine and drying winds had made the fair way hard and fast, and as a consequence the ball travelled far. But the greens were comparatively slow, owing to their having been well watered during the hot weather to keep them in good condition. This alteration in pace beat the American amateur champion. He could not judge the speed of the greens and was consequently often short with his putt.

Good Work by Ouimet.

It was the youthful Ouimet who played as the British critics had expected Travers to play. The open champion showed himself to be a brilliant and resourceful golfer. He always seemed to be playing well within himself, while his putting was not surpassed by that of any other player. Ouimet has as his opponent C. C. McGregor, of Manila, champion of the Philippines. At the turn the American was four up and he won the match by seven up with six to play.

GEORGIA JUBILEE STARTS IN MACON

Prince Prosperity to Hold Sway in the Central City During Three Days of Festivities.

Macon, Ga., May 18.—(Special.)—With hotel accommodations practically all reserved days in advance and an unprecedented demand on the boarding housekeepers, Macon tomorrow takes up the role of host to one of the largest crowds that the city has known since te Confederate reunion was held here three years ago. It is the occasion of the first annual Georgia Jubilee, which in time bids fair to equal in many ways the famous Mardi Gras celebration each spring in New Orleans.

Prince Prosperity, the most popular ruler who ever sat upon a throne, is to have full sway here for the next three days, and every indication is that his reign will be a pleasant and profitable one. The prince arrives in the city tomorrow morning at 10:30 o'clock. He will come on horseback, arrayed in royal robes of many hues, his garments being made in France especially for this occasion. He will be accompanied by twelve out-riders and a court jester. The royal party will be met by officers of the Jubilee association, an escort of police and the Macon Drum and Bugle Corps, who will act as an escort to the city hall, where the prince will state his mission to Mayor Bridges Smith, the latter turning over the keys of the city to Emory Winship, president of the Jubilee association, who will formally accept them on behalf of Prince Prosperity and other visitors to the city during the celebration.

Good Roads Rally.

Immediately several hundred Good Roads advocates from various portions of the state will convene at the city auditorium and plans will be formulated for the three-day rally. The rally is being given under the auspices of the Good Roads committee of the Georgia Chamber of Commerce and has as its object the building of better highways throughout Georgia. One of the principal projects to be discussed will be the building of a link of the National Highway between Augusta and Macon, giving a shorter route than the present one, which runs from Augusta to Atlanta and thence to Macon.

At 4:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, the auto floral parade with 150 decorated automobiles participating will be held. A decorating company has had representatives on the ground for several days and many cars have already been handsomely decorated, there being a keen rivalry among several of the entrants for the $500 in prizes which have been offered for the best decorated cars.

General Walter A. Harris will be chief marshal of the parade, which will form on Walnut street and traverse the principal streets of the city. The parade will be more than 4 miles long. The first day will come to a close with a ball, given by the German-American club at the Volunteers' armory.

Better Babies Contest.

The better babies contest, in which 400 lusty youngsters from all over the state have been entered, will be in progress all during the jubilee, under the direction of Dr. Anna Steese Richardson, of New York city. The contest is to determine the most perfect baby in the state, and good looks will cut no figure. This is a contest in which the street sweeper's son may prove a winner over the millionaire's baby. Six local physicians are in consultation, the examinations, a score being kept for each baby and prizes are to be awarded to the most perfect ones.

Wednesday will be marked by the convening of the grand lodge of the Knights of Pythias, with a parade by the Dokeys in the afternoon. The Dokeys are members of the Dramatic Order Knights of Khorassan, the lighter side of Pythianism. Motorcycle races, with some of the best riders in the south participating, will also be held during the afternoon at Central City park.

Secret Order Parade.

Wednesday night the secret order parade, participated in by representatives of practically every secret order in the state, will be held. Another feature of the parade will be 100 women suffrage workers, mounted on horseback. There will also be a long column of marching suffragettes, in the parade will also be a large number of decorated floats entered by merchants and manufacturers.

Immediately after the parade a suffragette rally will be held at the city auditorium, with Mrs. Antoinette Funke of Chicago, as the speaker. Mrs. Funke is a lawyer, and recently appeared before the United States senate and spoke in behalf of woman suffrage. Other speakers will be Mrs. Desha Breckenridge, of Lexington, Ky.; Mrs. Mary McLendon, president of the Georgia Woman Suffrage association, and Mrs. W. H. Felton, of Cartersville, one of the pioneer suffrage workers of Georgia.

At the same hour that the suffrage rally opens, the jubilee ball will start at the Volunteers' armory.

Thursday will be marked by a continuation of the parade rally and the better babies contest, with a historical pageant, depicting the attack and defense of Fort Hawkins, on Coleman's hill.

A reproduction of old Fort Hawkins has been erected on Coleman's hill, showing the fort as it stood in East Macon one hundred years ago. Several hundred persons will participate, costumes for the pageant being secured from a Philadelphia concern.

Following the historical pageant a playground festival will be held on the Mulberry street parks, and the jubilee will come to a close Thursday night with a masquerade ball and tango party on Cherry street.

Dr. Benedict Very Ill.

Macon, Ga., May 18.—(Special.)—Dr. Samuel C. Benedict, of Athens, chairman of the state board of health and one of the best known physicians in Georgia, is desperately ill at the Williams sanitarium in Macon, and relatives have been summoned to his bedside. It is said that there is very little chance for his recovery.

Dr. Benedict suffered a stroke of apoplexy a couple of months ago and was brought here for treatment two weeks ago. Since that time his condition has grown worse.

SEARCH REVEALS BODY OF MURDERED NIGHT WATCHMAN

Savannah, Ga., May 18.—Peter F. Dewberry, night watchman for the American Agricultural Chemical company, was brutally murdered here Saturday night while making his rounds. A search was started for him Sunday. This morning his body was found. It had been concealed under a platform of one of the warehouses.

He was known to have carried on his person a considerable amount of money, as much as $700, and he is supposed to have had a large amount with him at the time of his murder. Robbery is advanced as the motive.

Dewberry came here several years ago from the vicinity of Columbus, Ga. He has no known relatives in this city. No arrests have been made.

DR. CHAS. DOWMAN LAID IN LAST RESTING PLACE

Memorial Exercises at Oxford Today—Many Attend the Funeral Services.

Oxford, Ga., May 18.—(Special.)—With a great crowd of sorrowing friends from all over the state attending, the funeral of Dr. Charles Edward Dowman, dean of the theological department of Emory college, was held at 4 o'clock this afternoon. The services were conducted in Allen Memorial church by Dr. J. W. Quillian and Rev. O. L. Kelly.

Memorial exercises will be held in the Emory college chapel Tuesday morning, at which Dr. Bonnell will speak of Dr. Dowman from the standpoint of a fellow student; Professor M. T. Peed, as a member of Dr. Dowman's faculty; Professor Douglas Rumble, as one of his pupils, and Judge J. W. Branham, as a neighbor and fellow citizen.

Huge masses of floral offerings attested the esteem in which Dr. Dowman was held. Among the organizations sending tributes were the Colleges Alumni association, the board of trustees, the faculty, student body, Phi Hellenic association, Kappa Alpha, Phi Delta Theta, ministerial association, Wesley Female college, Phi Mu sorority, Alpha Delta, Pi, Oxford Woman's clubs, First Methodist church of Gainesville and the North Covington Methodist church.

All of Dr. Doman's family were present with the exception of J. W. Dowman and Mrs. Clara Adahold, who were unavoidably absent. A delegation of ministers represented the North Georgia conference. Among the Atlantans present were L. B. Robeson, H. Y. McCord, Thomas W. Connally, Charles Skelton, R. L. Avery, Thomas R. Jeffries, Asa Warren Candler, Harold Hentz, Dr. Montagne Boyd, Robert Hemphill, Mrs. Warren Candler and Mrs. Jessie Keyes.

PEACE SOCIETIES HAVE AVERTED WAR, SAYS DR. H. C. WHITE

Athens, Ga., May 18.—(Special.)—Monday afternoon in the chapel of the University of Georgia Peace day was observed. Dr. Harry C. White, member of the various national peace organization, active participants in the several Lank Mohonk conference on international conciliation, and president of the Georgia Peace society, was the speaker of the hour.

"Though it may not be capable of definite, absolute proof," said Dr. White, "it is quite certain that the United States would have been at war with Mexico, and probably in embarrassing entanglements with other nations before this time, had it not been for the sentiment created by the various organizations for the settlement of international disputes in some other manner than by war." Dr. White gave a brief outline of the movement for international peace; he plainly spoke of the reasons why peaceful settlement of national differences is better in many ways than war.

Dr. White stressed the importance of creating sentiment among the students of the schools and colleges for some other way than war to settle disputes —and based the exhortation not so much upon sentiment as upon cool appeal to intellectual phases of the question.

Shops for S. & S. Road.

Statesboro, Ga., May 18.—(Special.)—Permanent improvements are now being made by the Savannah and Statesboro railway at the junction point of that road and the Savannah, Augusta and Northern, which is operated by the former road. The shops of the road have been too small to meet the demands and Superintendent S. T. Grimshaw decided to erect the new shops at that point instead of the present location near the passenger depot.

FURTHER ADVANCE IN COTTON MARKET

All Active Deliveries Make New High Ground—Market Closes Two to Seven Points Higher.

New York, May 18.—There was a further advance in the cotton market today with all the active deliveries making new high ground for the movement, owing to increasing apprehension as to the crop outlook in the southwest, and the continued steadiness of the old crop situation. A good deal of realizing was encountered above 12 cents for new crop positions, but the second session closed only from 2 to 7 points net higher.

The opening was steady at an advance of 5 to 6 points in response to relatively firm cables and a renewal of the buying movement that was developed toward the end of last week. Liverpool was a large buyer of July, and there was a considerable demand for new crop positions from houses with continental connections, while there was also considerable buying by trade interests and commission houses to indicate a broadening outside interest. There seemed a good deal of cotton for sale around the opening figures, and the weather map in the bulletin issued from the best, but bullish private crop advices and the continued strength accompanied by buying orders, the outlook for rain in Texas, unsettled weather or showers in that section, and the dull,

LABOR FIGHTING TRUST MEASURES

Proposals to "Exempt" the Unions from Operation of Sherman Law Not Liked. Labor Men Want Broader Exemption.

By John Corrigan, Jr.

Washington, May 18.—(Special)—The American Federation of Labor today declared war on President Wilson's trust program. The proposals to "exempt" labor unions from the operation of the sherman anti-trust law, is the cause of the friction. It is attacked as too narrow.

Relations have been strained between the administration and representatives of the federation. The latter will now attempt to organize the friends of organized labor in the house against the Clayton anti-trust bills.

Threats Are Made.

Mr. Gompers has declared that the democratic party has broken its platform pledges. Democratic leaders say that Mr. Gompers and members of the executive committee of the American Federation of Labor have broken faith with the president and with them. During the last national campaign the sympathy of organized labor was thrown to the democratic party. Threats are made that a new alignment is now imminent, and the result of this fight may be felt in the congressional elections this fall.

A long conference was held this afternoon by labor representatives and members of the house judiciary committee. Present were Frank Morrison, secretary of the federation; Jackson H. Ralston, counsel, and—Representative David J. Lewis, of Maryland. Representatives Clayton, of Alabama; Carlin, of Virginia, and Floyd, of Arkansas, represented the judiciary committee which is considering the anti-trust bills. The labor men demanded a broader exemption provision. Representative Clayton and his colleagues flatly refused and charged the labor men with breaking their agreement. The labor men did not deny the charge, but represented that they had been misinformed. "The labor men have broken faith," said a member of the judiciary committee. "They agreed to accept what we had given them and now they go back on it and say they did not know what they were doing."

Charged to Judge Parker.

The rejection of the labor amendment is attributed to the advice of Judge Alton B. Parker, of New York, counsel for the American Federation of Labor. It is said the proposed amendment was first submitted to the labor representatives and accepted by Mr. Gompers. Mr. Morrison and Mr. Ralston, who had assembled in a room in the house office building, where it was reported there was a "joker" in the exemption provision. The labor leaders became suspicious. They called a meeting and decided the exemption was not adequate and should be broadened. They demanded that union labor organizations be not only included from the operation of the Sherman anti-trust law, but that an affirmative statement be included that certain acts shall not be illegal.

Many members of the house display a disposition to hurry the labor exempting organized labor comes up, and it is well known that the differences over the present controversy may be. Members of the labor committee are incensed.

"We have given them something they have been fighting for twenty years and yet they reject it," said one representative.

Measures Up Today.

Trust legislation will be taken into the house tomorrow for consideration under a special rule which the rules committee will report early in the day. Final conferences on plans were held today, and there was no change in the proposal to limit debate to forty hours on the three bills on the program, the trade commission bill, the omnibus anti-trust bill and the measure to regulate the issue of railroad securities.

Further consideration of anti-trust legislation in the senate probably will be delayed until the house has agreed to the bill to created a trade commission. The senate interstate commerce committee in charge of this legislation has completed its hearings on the omnibus trust bill framed by its chairman, Senator Newlands. Efforts to get a quorum to consider it have failed, but it was generally understood today that many members prefer to wait until the house trade commission bill comes over to the senate before taking up the subject again.

How far the senate will go toward passing a rural credits bill at the present session will be determined Wednesday at a meeting of the banking and currency committee. The plan that President Wilson has approved the course of the committee in framing the rural credits bill from its legislative program was made known in an indication that the committee would not report such a bill.

Pleads "Unwritten Law."

Greenville, S. C., May 18.—George W. Tidwell, Sr., of Clinton, S. C., was placed on trial here today charged with the murder of R. Emmet Walker, 20 years old, prominent socially. Counsel for the defendant charged that the shooting was done by Tidwell while temporarily insane because of alleged invasion of the sanctity of his home by Walker. Tidwell's wife and daughter are expected to be material witnesses for the defense.

BECKER ACCUSED BY PRESS AGENT

to save her husband from the electric chair. She is expected to contradict much of the testimony given by the witnesses for the state who swore that Rose and Becker were very, very friendly. It is understood that she will tell details of Plitt.

If Becker testifies it is understood he will admit that he met Rose on many occasions, but will assert that the relations between them were friendly and that exist between every policeman and his "stool pigeon," which Rose admitted he was. There are about thirty witnesse sunder supoena to testify in Becker's behalf. Many are very friendly. It is understood that she will be Attaie Plitt.

If Becker testifies it is understood he will admit that he met Rose on many occasions, but will assert that the relations between them were friendly and that exist between every policeman and his "stool pigeon," which Rose admitted he was. There are about thirty witnesse sunder supoena to testify in Becker's behalf. Many are very friendly. It is understood that she will be Attaie Plitt.

Becker Scored Manner of Killing.

After Rosenthal had been murdered, Plitt swore, he met Becker, who was indignant at the manner in which it had been accomplished.

"What is the matter with Jack Rose and the bunch?" Plitt quoted Becker as having said. "They have taken the way they did was very bad. You would supposed it was being done for the amusing gentlemen."

On July 15, the day before the murder, Plitt said he met Becker at police headquarters.

"Become all right," said the witness, "that he and I had to have an alibi for that night. 'Keep away from Times Square tonight,' he told me.

"What's up?" Plitt asked.

"Never mind,' said Becker. 'Do as you are told, and we will have an alibi. Tomorrow you'll know why."

The witness said he called on Deputy Police Commissioner Dougherty and did the best he could to establish an alibi for Becker. He swore that Becker and Becker sent him to see Rose, then in hiding, to get a statement from Rose with reference to the employment of Vallon.

Returning to Becker, said the witness, he reported that Rose refused to allow Becker to select his lawyer. Becker, the witness swore, then sent two men to Rose's house on Long Island.

Becker Feared Squealers.

The next day, Sunday, Plitt asserted, Becker called him to his home and asked will squeal on me."

"Then Becker told me to see Rose," said Plitt, "and advise him that he was taking nothing he could to hold out and for him to say nothing."

Plitt said that he saw Becker was in the Tombs prison, after his arrest. Becker said, according to Plitt: "Didn't I tell you they would squeal?' I want you to go out and get everything you can on Jack Rose. Get hold of the men in my squad and have them testify I was not in the neighborhood of the murder on the night of the raid."

Once he told Becker, Plitt said, a friend of the gunmen had told him to "go slow" as the gunmen were guilty and that if they didn't get it quick there would be trouble.

"Well," Becker said, according to the witness, "tell them I have not got it down to as soon as I can. I'll have on $500 the gunmen will get it."

Plitt said he wrote Becker almost constantly after his conviction and received no word from him until the house. After Becker's conviction and sentencing to death, he was visited by the party up to the prison. "Becker put his arms around me and started to cry," said the witness.

"Cut it out," he said, 'if I do go off in the chair, I want you to do me one favor. Kill that squealing Jack Rose."

Here the witness was turned over for the defense to cross-examination. Questioned about the killing of a negro boy who was a witness for one of Becker's gambling raids, Plitt admitted that he had been shot for the man's death.

When Plitt Defended Becker.

After recess late today the defense read to the jury a copy of the testimony given by Plitt at the trial of Becker. In this record Plitt swore that Becker was innocent and had been "framed" by Whitman.

Letters written Becker at Sing Sing prison by Plitt and other officials and to the Tombs were produced by Mr. Levy. Plitt in these letters referred to "My Dear Pal Charles," and contained many protestations of friendship and innocent. Half of them Plitt finally confessed were in his handwriting.

One letter, addressed to the Tombs and signed "Hiram Charles," was dated April 2. Plitt said that he was not in the day, he was holding conferences with Police Commissioner Waldo and Groehl. In the letter Plitt asked Becker if he still wanted to "throw the blame on shoulder," and whether the writer could do something to aid the former policeman.

"Why were you negotiating with Mr. Groehl?" asked Mr. Manton.

"I was trying to fix it up for Becker to confess and show the men higher up as grafters," answered Plitt. He struck out this story about being asked by Becker to tell "Bald Jack" Rose, the informer, while Becker was being taken on the night of June 24, 1912. This corroboration by Marshall of the story of Rose, Dougherty and Schepps regarding the Harlem conference, which the court record declared to be the "heart of the conspiracy to murder Rosenthal," furnished what the district attorney declared to be sufficient proof that it actually occurred. At the Harlem conference, it had been stated previously, Becker met the three first named conspirators while Sam Schepps waited in a nearby automobile. At the Harlem conference Becker, it was said, demanded of Rose that Rosenthal be killed and urged Rose to have a friend do the job quickly as possible. Marshall's testimony is considered by Whitman to be more important than that of any other witness.

Harry Pollok, a promoter and for twenty years a friend of "Bald Jack" Rose, was then placed on the stand. Pollok said Rose came to his apartment about twelve hours before Rosenthal was murdered and told him all about it. The following day, Pollok said, Rose sent him to see Becker at his police headquarters.

"I told Becker," Pollok declared, "that Rose was hiding in my house. Then Becker told me to keep Rose there, remain there and keep his mouth shut." After Pollok was excused the district attorney announced that the state would rest its case, and then was taken until tomorrow morning.

FORAKER WILL FIGHT TO RETURN TO SENATE

Cincinnati, May 18.—Former Senator Joseph B. Foraker today formally announced his candidacy for the republican nomination for senator from Ohio.

Federal Court in Rome.

Rome, Ga., May 18.—(Special.)—The May term of federal court convened here this morning, with Judge William T. Newman presiding and Attorney General Hooper Alexander representing the United States. The civil docket was called, and a few minor matters are being tried. The grand jury is in session, and the criminal docket will be taken up as soon as indictments are returned.

A new concrete bridge at Allentown, Fa., though neither the highest nor the longest in the world, is said to contain the greatest amount of material.

AT THE THEATERS

Keith Vaudeville.

(At the Forsyth.)

The yesterdays of the sixties were brought very close to the today of this generation by the first performance on Monday, when Frank Keenan and company held the closest attention of two large audiences and to many eyes brought tears by their realistic portrayal of the characters in "Vindication."

The scene is laid in the governor's office, and the only players are the governor, who is an old union soldier and his secretary, and an old veteran of Dixie's tattered legions, who followed Stonewall Jackson to his death at Chancellorsville, and Lee to the surrender at Appomatox. "They licked the south, but they never licked me," is the way he tells his story.

The reb has come to ask the governor to give the union soldier condemned to die as a murderer, a chance for honor. "We didn't even think of a pardon," he urges, "all we want suh, is for you to give him shot."

And then he tells the story of the crime—or rather it was. Of a son home for one of the reverence his name of Lee, of hot blood, of a little difficulty, of a fatality, and of that dastardly thing, a pistol shot, and then a trial. And by and by a sweep of the governor's pen—the soldier in him predominating—a new trial is ordered for the boy, with all the effects may be considered on their merits.

The story of detail the setting is perfectly done. Secretary, governor and old soldier—every one could be better. Excellent as was Mr. Keenan's portrayal of the role of the southern "Old Man of the Golden West," it is no better in its presentation than that of the wearing of the gray.

John Geiger, the violinist, proves one of the big hits of the bill. In the afternoon he got away with the majority of the applause. When a violinist playing he proves that there is considerably more versatility in a musical instrument than many of us have dreamed of.

The bill opens with a fair skating act by the Bilouves, and then comes Jimmy Rogers and his eccentricities, who was at one time with Eddie Foy. He failed to get much on Monday afternoon.

The bill really gets its start with Lydell, Rogers and Lydell, two men and a good looking woman, who offer a line of patter and some very clever dancing.

Jim Toney and Ann Norman, in what is booked as "a lot of nonsense," or something very near it, have a little keep the audience laughing the most of the time they are on the stage. The main part of this act strongly resembles a number we saw a few weeks ago, when she says she's his wife. The act is a hummer.

A novelty is offered as a closer in Gerome Brooks and Bessie Clifford in a walking match, performed on a couple of machines.

"To Escape."

(At the Lyric.)

Reformers will not find the stage at least there is a crusade marching in the last scene of the new Lyric play among drama pictures have abounded a higher standard of actors and actresses, but as yet no one has ever hinted at reforming audiences.

At the most crucial period in Paul Armstrong's "To Escape," at the Lyric theater, last night, Miss Chaffee and Mr. Middlemass were forced to go through a scene—the climax—and a serious climax at that, while some one of the good audience almost convulsed with laughter. Just what they saw funny in the situation is beyond comprehension, and the only explanation possible is that they did not know better.

Be that as it may, one discordant note sounded in the audience, "The Escape," as the play is called, is a Nora Verne's play, ers might be said to be a perfect symphony. The play is a fine one, abounds with brisk situations, and contains the air of the moral of hygiene and social welfare is taught, and a higher standard of living is upheld. Miss Chaffee and Mr. Middlemass have the leading parts, and let it be known here and now that they handled any previous efforts. James A. Marcus, under whose direction the Lyric production was staged, is the Jim Joyce, the hero of the play, a fine story, and his characterization is wonderful. Forbes Dennis has a fine role, a little distinction between his work this week and last. Miss La Verne Scott, W. H. Brown also has a snug part, which, while it allows him little opportunity, serves to demonstrate her wonderful powers. Miss Scott, W. H. Brown and other in the cast are splendid in their parts. The Lyric production makes sweet and sympathetic the part she portrays.

"To Escape" is just the sort of play Lyric patrons want, and it does not attract and please it does our guess.

JAMES W. MEADE.

"Sealed Orders."

(At the Grand.)

"Sealed Orders," which is being presented this week at the Grand opera house, is one of the most pretentious motion pictures which has ever been seen in Atlanta—at least in many years.

The picture is founded on the well-known thrilling play of that name, which in its day was one of the most popular of dramas ever produced in this country, and is still one of the most thrilling melodramas of hair-breadth escapes.

Not only is the picture of itself interesting, but the incidental attractions that precede the passage of the Grand has been arranged to represent a stage show. The orchestra of ten pieces is seated on the stage and plays during the showing of the picture. A small fountain is seen in the foreground, and an attractive young woman sings between pictures.

In addition to "Sealed Orders," Pathe's weekly pictures are shown.

REPORT SON IS HURT ALARMS PHIL COOK

Secretary of State Asks Aid of Police to Locate Charles Cook.

When Phil Cook, secretary of the state of Georgia, returned to his home at 310 East Linden late Monday afternoon, a house servant delivered a telephone message to him, telling that his son, Charles, age 26, had been hurt about 5 o'clock in an automobile accident, and requesting that he come to his son at once, the message not stating where his son was.

The servant remembered that it was Mrs. W. W. ("Boots") Rogers, wife of an ex-county policeman, who had telephoned the message.

Mr. Cook telephoned the place where his son and his wife live on Courtland street, and neither had been there since noon. He then tried to telephone Mrs. Rogers, but she and her husband had left to go to his son.

At neither place could he obtain any information about the condition of his boy, nor could he find any one else who knew of the accident.

Then Mr. Cook received seriously injured to the father, has not yet been located. Mr. Cook has telephoned every hospital in the city of Atlanta to find his son.

He telephoned police station, and they knew nothing of an accident.

Mr. Cook became alarmed at the mysterious report that his son was seriously injured, and requested Assistant Chief Jett to keep his men on the lookout for his boy.

Up to a late hour last night he had not been located.

STORE ROBBERY BALKED BY BRAVERY OF NEGRO

The bravery of a negro waiter at midnight resulted in the capture of an alleged youthful burglar after a desperate fight with two members of the gang, one of whom escaped, when an attempt was made to rob the store of the Rogers grocery store at Boulevard and Fitzgerald street.

The prisoner, according to police headquarters, where he gave the name of Watt Kelly, 284 South Boulevard. His captor was Howard Hill, a waiter in an uptown club.

Hill lives in the neighborhood of the Rogers store, and was on his way home.

He caught sight of three figures working at the Boulevard entrance. As he rounded the corner the trio fled. The negro dashed into the shadows and hid. Presently the youths returned. They were jimmying open the door, it is claimed, when Hill leaped at them. One of the youths fled. The negro grabbed Kelly and his pal by the collars.

Both Kelly and the second white youth put up a hard fight, the latter managing to escape. Hill held Kelly until Policemen Jones and Gorman arrived from headquarters and locked him at the station, he revealed a small burglar's outfit. He declined to tell the name of the other two, declaring he had met them at a picture show, and had proposed the burglary expedition.

and generally outlined the methods of property study.

"It is a sin," he declared, "particularly in a campaign of this sort, not to know one's fitness for the personal work among those whom he hopes to bring to Christ. It is essential that a personal worker should be familiar enough with the Bible to use it readily to any part of it which he wishes to use for reference."

Mr. M. E. Dodd, of the First church, St. Louis, was the speaker who led the discussion of personal work. His theme was fellowship. In it he showed the necessity for personal workers, and that Christ's power is perfected in a state of fellowship with the Master.

"The philosophy of the Christian life is simple, radiant with the reflected light of heavenly glory," declared Dr. Dodd. He has just come from a similar campaign in Louisiana, in which there were 5,000 additions to the church.

A section of the church was set apart for the colored evangelists and workers, and a number of them were in attendance at the meeting, at the request of Dr. Bruner they led the singing at one part of the services.
